Help for soldiers transitioning from the military

A team of McCracken leaders, Paducah City Commission, GPED, Ky Workforce, and Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 184 were at Fort Campbell recently to recruit soldiers transitioning from the military to make McCracken County their civilian home.

Four hundred soldiers a month leave Fort Campbell and seek new homes. 400 disciplined, trained, and motivated patriots!

In their last year, the US government pays these select individuals their wages, benefits, and all expenses to train on base at no cost to them, to develop skills by which they can seamlessly transition to a productive and rewarding career.

The training facilities toured (one plumbing/steamfitting and one welding) were staffed by highly skilled and experienced union trade instructors in state of the art facilities.

At the completion of the 17 week classes these soldiers have earned certificates of competency in a trade and are placed in union jobs in locations of their choosing, throughout the U.S.

Our mission: Choose Paducah/McCracken County They served their Country and now their

Jackson Purchase Energy Youth Tour program sponsors high school youth

Paducah, KY — Jackson Purchase Energy Corporation (JPEC) is proud to continue its long-standing commitment to education and community leadership by sponsoring local high school students in the 2026 Youth Tour program, an invaluable experience in Frankfort, KY and Washington, DC. This year, JPEC selected eight outstanding high school juniors from across its service territory to participate in the tour, which provides students with a unique opportunity to learn firsthand about state and federal government, the energy industry, and civic leadership while building connections with peers from across Kentucky.

Eligible applicants included high school juniors who reside within JPEC's service area and whose parents or guardians are members of the cooperative. Students completed a competitive application process that included an essay, academic transcripts, and documentation of extracurricular involvement. JPEC partners with Kentucky Electric Cooperatives to make the Youth Tour possible. The following students were selected as participants of the 2026 Youth Tour program:

- Samuel Dobson – McCracken County
- William Seaton – McCracken County
- Jacob Thaggard – McCracken County
- Mason Clements – McCracken County
- Ashton Wallace – McCracken County
- Ethan Dillon – Marshall County
- Katelyn Dillon – Marshall County
- Lillian Reno – Ballard County

"JPEC is proud to invest in the next generation of leaders by providing opportunities that broaden students' understanding of government, energy, and public service," said Mark Lindsey, Vice President of

Attorney Teris Swanson named Kentucky Justice Association Board Member of the year

Local attorney Teris Swanson has been named the Kentucky Justice Association Board Member of the Year.

"It was a complete surprise, and I'm truly honored", Swanson said of the award.

"Serving alongside this board has been one of the great privileges of my career. There is no group of smarter, more committed, outstanding, and courageous lawyers in this entire United States".

She is thankful for the recognition and says she is blessed to work with people who push her, support her, and make this work meaningful.

Fly Barkley Pledge aims to build community support for regional air service

WEST PADUCAH, KY — Barkley Regional Airport (PAH) is inviting the Purchase Region to take a simple but impactful step toward strengthening local air service: consider your hometown airport first and think Barkley when planning travel.

The new Fly

Barkley Pledge challenges travelers, business and leisure, across the Purchase Region to consider their hometown airport first and think Barkley when planning travel. The initiative is designed to show measurable community support as the airport enters a new era of connectivity through United Express service, operated by SkyWest Airlines.

Daily nonstop flights now connect the Purchase Region to Chicago O'Hare International Airport (ORD) and George Bush Intercontinental Airport (IAH) via United, operated by SkyWest Airlines.

These major global hubs provide one-stop access to over 270 destinations worldwide through the United network. This expanded connectivity marks a pivotal moment for Barkley Regional Airport, positioning the community for greater economic opportunity, business growth, and long-term stability of regional air service.

"We have secured a tremendous opportunity for this region, securing United service, operated by SkyWest," said Dennis Rouleau, Executive Director of Barkley Regional Airport. "However, air service is not guaranteed; it must be supported for the airport to sustain and grow. Airlines follow the numbers, and those numbers are driven by our community's travel decisions. Choosing Barkley is not just convenient. It is

West Kentucky Community and Technical College Announces 2026 Regional Educators Awards and Scholarship Program

PADUCAH, Ky. — West Kentucky Community and Technical College will host the ninth annual Regional Educators Awards and Scholarship Program (REASP), recognizing outstanding pre-kindergarten through high school educators, administrators and staff members who work tirelessly each day on behalf of students, parents, and the community.

Established by WKCTC President Dr. Anton Reece, the program highlights the impact of educators across the region while awarding scholarships to students pursuing degrees in education.

The ceremony will take place at the Clemens Fine Arts Center in Paducah on March 26 and will feature a red-carpet celebration honoring this year's recipients.

Thanks to the incredible growth and popularity of this awards program, college officials reported a record number of nominations submitted for the 2026 awards. WKCTC officials made some exciting updates to ensure they continue to shine the spotlight on outstanding educators and leaders who make a difference every day.

REASP features a brand-new category for 2026, Distinguished Technical Faculty 9th – 12th grade, honoring the dedicated faculty at area technology centers and career and technical centers.

The Distinguished Faculty categories have been reorganized to Pre-Kindergarten through 2nd grade; 3rd-5th grade; 6th-8th grade; and 9th-12th grade, to ensure these categories align more naturally and educators teaching different grade levels are recognized within categories that best reflect their roles.

The top 20 finalists in each category have been invited to take center stage and be formally recognized at the March 26 ceremony. This means more room for nominees to bring guests, colleagues and school supporters to celebrate together. The Top 20 educators selected represent the very best in WKCTC's service region, which includes Ballard, Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Marshall, McCracken, Livingston, and Lyon counties in Kentucky, and Alexander, Hardin, Massac, Pope, and Pulaski counties in Illinois.

"The Regional Educators Awards and Scholarship Program continues to grow each year as more communities come together to celebrate the vital role educators play in shaping our future," said Dr. Anton Reece. "We are proud to honor these exceptional individuals and support the next generation of teachers. We are excited to honor the top 20 finishers in each category as well as our finalists and winners on March 26."

The public is invited to attend this exciting evening, beginning with a celebratory opening reception at 4:00 pm in the WKCTC Student Center followed by the main event in Clemens Fine Arts Center at 5:30 pm.

All nominees will receive a certificate of achievement and be featured on the WKCTC website, westkentucky.kctcs.edu (search for Regional Educators).

2026 Kentucky Junior Chef now open for competitors

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – The 2026 Kentucky Junior Chef competition is now open, Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner Jonathan Shell announced on Thursday.

The Junior Chef program encourages participating students to learn how to cook by using local ingredients to prepare healthy meals while teaching students about agriculture, marketing, organization, teamwork and community involvement.

“Young chefs across the state can begin preparing for this year’s Junior Chef challenge,” Shell said. “The culinary skills our young chefs have showcased throughout the years is just a fraction of their ability to create delicious recipes with wonderful Kentucky products.”

The competition is part of the Kentucky Proud Farm to School Program, which helps Kentucky schools purchase local foods. Children get fresh, nutritious local foods to help them grow up healthy and strong. Local farmers get another market for their farm products. The Kentucky Department of Agriculture (KDA) administers the Farm to School Program and the Junior Chef competition.

With the 2026 season opening, students and coaches can begin organizing teams and developing recipes using Kentucky products. At the state level, winning teams can receive scholarships to culinary schools. The state winner moves on to the Southeast Region Junior Chef Competition for more scholarship opportunities.

Those interested in competing this year must submit their intent to complete, along with a recipe concept by May 30, 2026. Specific guidelines can be found in the Kentucky Junior Chef Handbook on the Kentucky Junior Chef website at kyagr.com/junior-chef under the “What to Know” button.

Between June and September, teams will finalize their recipes, participate in team workshops with KDA chefs, and submit their nutritional analysis for review and clearance. Finalized recipes must be submitted to KDA by Oct. 1, 2026, along with a completed packet that includes a shopping list, photos, taste test documentation, work plan and the entry fee.

This year the 2026 Kentucky Junior Chef State Competition is Nov. 12-13 at Sullivan University in Lexington.

For more information, go to kyagr.com/junior-chef.

The Love Family McDonald’s organization recently celebrated the opening of their second location in Murray back in February. The store, located at 1801 North Fourth Street, offers inside seating, drive thru, mobile ordering and delivery service. It is open 24 hours. As part of the Grand Opening, the first 100 customers received cards giving them free Big Macs for a year. Along with entertainment and a visit by Grimace, the city declared the day Love Family McDonald’s Day. In honor of the new store, the organization donated $1000 to the Lakers Lighthouse Family Resource Center that serves North and East Calloway Elementary Schools.

2026-2027 Kentucky fishing and hunting licenses available

Staff Report

FRANKFORT — The 2026-2027 Kentucky license year for fishing, hunting, boating and more started on Sunday, March 1. Outdoor enthusiasts are able to purchase all the licenses, tags and permits they need to enjoy Kentucky's outdoors through the end of February 2027.

Licenses and permits are sold online through the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resource's License Sales portal and the My Profile app, both searchable on the department's website at fw.ky.gov. Licenses and permits also are sold at agent locations across the state. A list of license agent locations by county is available on the department's website.

The 2026-2027 license and permit fees will remain the same as the current license year ending Saturday, Feb. 28, 2026. License and permit fees for the 2025-2026 license year were increased slightly across the board in January 2026 following a new, inflation-based pricing system measured on the Consumer Price Index (CPI), the national measure of inflation calculated by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Federal Duck Stamp and application fees were exempt from CPI adjustments.

In Kentucky, a license covers basic hunting or fishing for many species, whereas additional state permits are required when pursuing specific species, such as fishing for trout or hunting for migratory birds, deer, wild turkey or black bear. Sportsmen's-type licenses include multiple species permits as well as basic hunting and fishing privileges.

For newcomers to all the great outdoor opportunities that Kentucky has to offer, a reduced-cost sportsman's license is now available for resident first-time buyers. Only individuals who have not purchased an annual Kentucky hunting or fishing license — or a combination license that includes an annual license — since 1996 are eligible. The $37 license includes a resident hunting and fishing license, spring turkey permit, fall turkey permit, trout permit, state migratory bird and waterfowl permit and statewide deer permit.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife provides a number of resources to assist avid outdoor enthusiasts and newcomers alike with information on waterbodies, public lands, fishing and hunting education and all the regulations to help anglers and hunters make the most of their time outdoors via its website and the hunting and fishing guides it produces annually. This includes the new Fishing and Boating Guide available online and in print.

Another great resource is the Fish Boat KY app. Available free from the Apple App Store and Google Play, the app helps anglers find waterbodies, boat ramps and other water access from the palm of their hand. Users can also search by species of fish, store copies of their licenses, and much more using the smartphone app.

The department receives its primary funding through revenue raised by the sale of hunting and fishing licenses and permits, as well as federal excise taxes generated by the sale of recreational firearms and ammunition, archery gear and fishing equipment.

For questions, the public may refer to the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Licenses webpage or type "Licenses" into the search bar on the agency website (fw.ky.gov) or contact the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Information Center at 800-858-1549 or at info.center@ky.gov, weekdays 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. (Eastern), except holidays.

ALLISON BALL AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

Independent Auditor's Report

The Honorable Todd Cooper, Ballard County Judge/Executive
 The Honorable Ronnie Giles, Ballard County Sheriff
 Members of the Ballard County Fiscal Court

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statement Opinions

We have audited the accompanying Statement of Receipts, Disbursements, and Excess Fees - Regulatory Basis of the Sheriff of Ballard County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2024, and the related notes to the financial statement.

Unmodified Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statement presents fairly, in all material respects, the receipts, disbursements, and excess fees of the Ballard County Sheriff for the year ended December 31, 2024, in accordance with the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting and budget laws as described in Note 1.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles

In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles section of our report, the financial statement does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of the Ballard County Sheriff, as of December 31, 2024, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAS), the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards (GAS), issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Program for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statement section of our report. We are required to be independent of the Ballard County Sheriff and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles

As described in Note 1 of the financial statement, the financial statement is prepared by the Ballard County Sheriff on the basis of the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky, to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting and budget laws, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material and pervasive.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statement

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of this financial statement in accordance with accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting and budget laws. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of a financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Ballard County Sheriff's ability to continue as a going concern for twelve months beyond the financial statement date, including any currently known information that may raise substantial doubt shortly thereafter.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statement

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement as a whole is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinions. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and, therefore, is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS and GAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal controls. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statement.

In performing an audit in accordance with GAAS and GAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Ballard County Sheriff's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statement.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Ballard County Sheriff's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time. We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control-related matters that we have identified during the audit.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated October 2, 2025, on our consideration of the Ballard County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards, in considering the Ballard County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

Based on the results of our audit, we have presented the accompanying Schedule of Findings and Responses, included herein, which discusses the following report finding:

2024-001 The Ballard County Sheriff's Office Lacks Adequate Segregation Of Duties
 Respectfully submitted,

Allison Ball
 Auditor of Public Accounts
 Frankfort, KY

October 2, 2025

State law requires the Auditor of Public Accounts to annually audit fiscal courts, county clerks, and sheriffs; and print the results in a newspaper having general circulation in the county. The complete audit and any other audit of state agencies, fiscal courts, county clerks, sheriffs, and property valuation administrators may be viewed in the reports section of the Auditor of Public Accounts' website at auditor.ky.gov or upon request by calling 1-800-247-9126.

Kentucky to host largest annual "Archery in the Schools" state tournaments

Staff Report

FRANKFORT — Kentucky will host the nation's largest annual school archery tournaments March 13-14, as 9,241 student archers from 415 schools are expected to compete in the Kentucky National Archery in the Schools Program (NASP) State Bullseye Tournament. More than 3,000 of those students are also competing in the NASP State 3D Tournament.

Held at the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville since 2016, the tournament has grown into one of the largest state-level sporting competitions held anywhere.

The in-school, co-ed program introduces students in grades 4-12 to international-style target archery. Students learn archery as part of their school curriculum and are then eligible to compete in school-hosted events for the opportunity to qualify for state and national tournaments. Each year, more than 160,000 Kentucky students learn archery during the school day as part of their physical education curriculum, and approximately 17,000 compete in Kentucky school-hosted NASP tournaments as part of after-school teams.

In 2002, the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources debuted NASP in Kentucky with 21 pilot schools and it has since expanded to more than 900 schools statewide. Nationally, approximately 1.2 million students from more than 9,500 schools participate annually. Since its inception, NASP has put a bow and arrow in the hands of more than 18 million students and has awarded nearly $5.4 million in cash scholarships to more than 2,000 students.

"Nationally, 50% of student archers say archery in the schools was their first archery experience and 90% of kids learning archery as part of their curriculum said they love it," said Lisa Johnson, state NASP coordinator for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "Schools embrace NASP programming because archery is a sport that fits within their curriculum at relatively inexpensive cost. Archery is naturally inclusive of all students irrespective of physical traits and has a near 50%-50% male to female ratio. It doesn't surprise me to see how many kids love archery."

The 2026 Kentucky NASP state championships will feature two competitions: a traditional bullseye tournament, where archers shoot at a multi-ringed target, and a 3D tournament, where archers shoot at six lifelike foam targets representing various North American game animals. Top-scoring teams and individual archers will advance to the NASP Eastern Nationals scheduled May 7-9, 2026, also at the Kentucky Exposition Center.

The state tournament will take place in the North Wing, South Wing A-C, and the East Hall, with competition flights starting daily at 9:30 a.m. (EDT) on both Friday and Saturday, March 13-14. Spectator admission is free. Parking is $15 per vehicle and $30 per bus.

Elementary, middle and high school archers will compete for individual and team honors. The top senior boys and girls from the bullseye and 3D championship will be awarded scholarships from $500 to $1000 to the postsecondary school of their choice. Additionally, 10 senior academic archers will be randomly selected to receive $500 scholarships.

All Kentucky NASP archers and teams are encouraged to participate in the 3rd Annual "Archers Aiming to Reduce Hunger" food drive to support Kentucky Hunters for the Hungry and Feeding America Kentucky's Heartland to help relieve hunger in Kentucky communities. Participating archers are asked to bring one can or boxed food item. Donations will be collected in the South Wing lobby near the team registration desk.

Kentucky NASP coaches, alumni and friends of NASP will also have an opportunity to participate in a tournament of their very own. Centershot Ministries will be set up in South Wing A for these adults to have an opportunity to compete for fun. Proceeds will go to community archery outreach programs.

Complete tournament results will be available online at NASP Tournaments. For more information, visit the National Archery in the Schools Program webpage on the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website (fw.ky.gov), or call the department's Information Center at 1-800-858-1549, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. (EDT) weekdays, excluding holidays.

Request for Public Comment

Proposed Recreation Easement to M & T Development on Kentucky Reservoir

TVA is considering a request for a 30-year commercial recreation easement over approximately 4.13 acres at Eagle Landing Development on Kentucky Reservoir. M & T Development has requested this easement to construct a marina and launching ramp fronting the 4.13 acres of requested easement area. Approximately 5.76 acres of harbor limits are also being requested. The new water use facility infrastructure will include a covered, 110-slip floating marina and 24'W x 66'L launching ramp. The project is located on Kentucky Reservoir at Tennessee River Mile 24.8 (right bank) (36.993468 -88.228736), in Livingston County, Kentucky.

TVA is interested in receiving comments regarding the action's potential to affect the environment or historic properties and to identify any other issues associated with this request prior to making a permit decision. Any comments received, including names and addresses, will become part of the administrative record and will be available for public inspection. All written comments on this proposed action must be received on or before April 6, 2026. Written comments may be mailed to the address below or emailed to vwalters@tva.gov.

School communication bill advances through House committee

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – Legislation seeking to clarify a law designed to provide oversight on communications between students and public school faculty and staff took a step forward on Wednesday.

House Bill 67, sponsored by Rep. J.T. Payne, R-Henderson, received unanimous approval from the House Primary and Secondary Education Committee. Payne said the legislation builds on Senate Bill 181 from the 2025 legislative session.

“Senate Bill 181 is a very well-intentioned piece of legislation that maybe had some unintended consequences,” Payne testified. “Our goal in this bill, House Bill 67, is to clean up the best we can to still protect our students, but also not to make it more difficult for teachers to do their job and be the professionals that they are.”

SB 181 required public school districts to establish a traceable electronic communications system between students and teachers and other school authority figures to provide oversight and establish boundaries.

The current law does provide a few exceptions as to who is required to communicate with a student via traceable communications. A parent teaching at the same school as their child, for example, is exempted from exclusively using traceable communications with their own child under current law.

HB 67 would expand the list of individuals exempted from using traceable communications and provide other clarifications, Payne said.

Under the legislation, cousins would be added to the list of exempted family members as well as any adult who lives in the same household as the student.

A group text involving two or more school employees or qualified volunteers and one or more students for an academic, athletic or extra-curricular purpose is also among the new exemptions listed in the legislation.

Payne said HB 67 would also better define a qualified school volunteer.

Additionally, Payne told the committee that teachers who may encounter students via other jobs outside the school system, like a youth pastor, delivery driver or a photographer, may disclose that job and be exempt from using a traceable communication system for those purposes under the bill.

In case of an emergency, HB 67 would allow a teacher to respond to a student outside of the traceable communications system.

The bill now heads to the House floor.

Rep. J.T. Payne's bill on school communication received unanimous support in the House Primary and Secondary Education Committee.

Food company expands recall of chicken products

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – Ajinomoto Foods North America, Inc., a Portland, Ore., establishment, is expanding its Feb. 19, 2026, recall of frozen not ready to eat (NRTE) chicken products, that may be contaminated with foreign material, specifically glass.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) says the company is recalling approximately 33,617,045 additional pounds of various ready-to-eat (RTE) and NRTE chicken and pork fried rice, ramen, and shu mai dumpling products, for a combined total of 36,987,575 pounds subject to recall.

Sixteen products are included in the recall expansion, all of which were produced between Oct. 21, 2024, and Feb. 26, 2026, under brand names Ajinomoto, Kroger, Ling Ling, Tai Pei, and Trader Joe's. These products have best-by dates ranging from Feb. 28, 2026, through Aug. 19, 2027.

The products subject to recall bear establishment number P-18356, P-18356B, or P-47971 inside the USDA mark of inspection and were shipped to retail locations nationwide. The problem was discovered when the establishment notified FSIS that it received multiple consumer complaints involving glass found in product. Upon further investigation, the establishment determined that a vegetable source ingredient, specifically carrots, was the likely source of the glass contamination, which also impacted the additional products subject to this expanded recall. There have been no confirmed reports of injury due to consumption of this product. Anyone concerned about an injury should contact a healthcare provider.

FSIS is concerned that some products may be in retailers' or consumers' freezers. Consumers who have purchased these products are urged not to consume them. These products should be thrown away or returned to the place of purchase.

FSIS routinely conducts recall effectiveness checks to verify that firms recalling products notify their customers of the recall and that steps are taken to make certain that the product is no longer available to consumers.

Consumers with questions about the recall can contact Consumer Affairs, Ajinomoto Foods North America, at (855) 742-5011 or email at customercare@ajinomotofoods.com

AG UPDATE Winning the war on weeds: Why Spring preemergence herbicides are beneficial

for Ag and Natural Resources

Tom Miller, Ballard County Ext. Agent

Source: Kenneth Clayton, plant and soil sciences extension associate

Spring is here, and you might be itching to give your lawn a little TLC. While many people think “it’s spring, better grab the fertilizer,” the truth is that the very best time to boost lawn health is actually in the fall. That’s when conditions are prime for the grass to build strong roots. However, one of the most important (and often overlooked) spring lawn care practices is applying a preemergence herbicide.

If you want a thick, healthy lawn this summer, stop weeds before they even get started. If you wait until you can see them sprouting up, you’re already fighting an uphill battle. Postemergence herbicides, which you spray onto actively growing weeds later, can be more expensive and less effective. By applying a preemergence herbicide now, you’ll knock out those weed seeds before they even sprout, saving you time, energy and money down the road.

The best time to apply is when the soil temperature at a two-inch depth averages between 50-55°F for about five consecutive days. You can check soil temperatures online through resources like Kentucky Mesonet, or use a simple soil thermometer. If you’re not into checking soil temps, another trick is to watch for forsythia blooms. When those bright yellow flowers are in full bloom, it’s usually a good sign that it’s time to apply. In Kentucky, this typically happens in March to early April.

For the best results, many lawn care professionals recommend a two-application approach. The first should be made when soil temperatures indicate it’s time, and the second about six to eight weeks later to extend protection throughout the season. Always follow the instructions on the herbicide label to ensure you don’t exceed the recommended annual use rate.

While a preemergence herbicide is an excellent tool for preventing weeds, it’s not a magic fix. Another great way to keep weeds at bay is by maintaining a thick, healthy lawn that naturally shades out any potential invaders. Raising your mower height can be one of the most effective ways to do this, as taller grass helps block sunlight from reaching weed seeds.

Not every lawn will need a preemergence herbicide every year. If your lawn is already thick and weed-free, you may not need to apply one at all. However, if you’ve had issues with grassy weeds in the past or notice bare patches where weeds might take hold, it’s a good investment. If you skipped fertilizing in the fall, you can apply a moderate amount of fertilizer in the spring along with your herbicide. Just be careful not to overdo it, or you might end up feeding the weeds instead.

Taking a preventative approach now will save you time, money, and frustration later in the season. By applying a preemergence herbicide at the right time and focusing on overall lawn health, you’ll be setting yourself up for a lush, weed-free lawn all summer long.

Sudoku Puzzle

How it Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle! Good Luck! ANSWERS IN THE B SECTION

Senate resolution on waterway access, post-flood debris removal clears committee

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – Legislation sponsored by Sen. Scott Madon, R-Pineville, aimed at helping communities clean debris from streams and waterways following flooding has advanced following approval by the Senate State and Local Government Committee.

Senate Joint Resolution 62 directs the Energy and Environment Cabinet’s Division of Water to provide clear guidance to state and local governments on how to access waterways and remove debris after flood events. The resolution also calls for recommendations to streamline the permitting process and improve coordination during cleanup efforts.

Madon said the measure stems directly from conversations with local leaders and residents across his district who continue to deal with clogged creeks, sediment buildup and flooding concerns following recent disasters.

“I seldom go anywhere in my district without someone asking about the creeks, the streams, and the drainage issues we’re seeing,” Madon said. “People are worried because waterways that have never flooded before are now filling up quickly after heavy rain. Communities want to address the problem, but they need clear guidance on what they can and cannot do.”

Kentucky has

experienced multiple major flooding events in recent years, including devastating disasters across Eastern Kentucky. Debris such as fallen trees, sediment, construction materials and other waste often remains in waterways long after floodwaters recede, increasing the risk of future flooding and damage to roads, bridges and other infrastructure.

Madon said the goal of the resolution is to help communities better understand the rules and work more efficiently with state and federal agencies during cleanup efforts.

“We’re simply asking the Division of Water to lay out the process clearly so local governments know how to move forward,” Madon said. “Our communities are ready to do the work. This resolution is about making sure they have the guidance they need to clean out creeks and protect their communities.”

Under SJR 62, the Division of Water would prepare a report for the General Assembly outlining the permits required for debris removal, activities that are prohibited in waterways, and proper procedures for handling hazardous materials. The report would also include recommendations for potential legislative or administrative changes, such as creating a one-stop permitting portal or dedicated staff to assist local governments after natural disasters.

The measure now heads to the Senate floor.

Post-Flood Debris Removal: A Key Step in Recovery

After floodwaters recede, communities often face large amounts of debris that must be cleared before recovery can begin. Post-flood debris may include damaged furniture, building materials, fallen trees, mud, household waste, and sometimes hazardous substances. If not removed quickly, this debris can block roads, delay emergency services, and create health risks such as mold growth, pests, and contaminated waste.

Effective debris removal starts with assessing the affected area. Local authorities and waste management teams identify the types and volume of debris to determine the resources and equipment needed for cleanup. Materials are typically sorted into categories such as vegetation, construction waste, household items, and hazardous waste to ensure proper disposal and recycling where possible.

Community members and volunteers often assist in cleanup efforts, but safety is essential. Wearing protective gear and following official guidelines helps prevent injuries. Organized debris removal helps restore access, improve safety, and support community recovery after flooding.

critical to sustain and expand service for the future.”

How the Pledge Works

The program includes both an Individual Pledge and a Business/Organization Pledge. Given the signer the option to take the pledge on their own accord or represent their organization.

Businesses, community leaders, frequent flyers, and community members are encouraged to publicly take the pledge and share their support on social media and in internal communications. All participants receive a digital badge, recognition, and the option to receive periodic updates highlighting the impact of collective participation.

Why It Matters

Airlines closely monitor passenger demand and booking trends when making long-term service decisions. Every ticket purchased locally strengthens Barkley’s case for sustained and expanded service.

When travelers choose to drive to distant airports, that demand leaves the region. When they Fly Local, Fly Barkley, it supports:

- A more resilient regional economy
- Increased business recruitment and retention
- Tourism growth
- Greater global access for the Purchase Region

The Barkley Pledge is not a binding promise, contract, or long-term obligation; it is a simple shift in mindset. The pledge is designed to build awareness and encourage travelers to check Barkley first when making travel plans and consider starting their trip close to home. By taking a moment to look at local options before booking elsewhere, travelers show support for the long-term growth of their hometown airport.

“We take pride in shopping local and supporting local businesses, but air service is no different,” Rouleau said. “If we believe in investing in our community, that includes choosing to fly local when we can. The Purchase Region is an incredible place to live and work because of the people who show up for it. We saw that firsthand during the Essential Air Service (EAS) process through petitions, letters of support, and countless conversations. That community commitment helped bring us to this moment. Now we build on it by continuing to show airlines that this region stands behind its airport.”

Take the Pledge

Travelers can take the pledge online at FlyBarkley.com or click here and join a growing list of community members who are choosing to think local first.

Strong air service does not happen by accident. It is earned, supported, and sustained by the people and businesses who use it. Every ticket booked locally sends a clear message that this region values connectivity and intends to keep it. The Purchase Region stepped up during the EAS process to help secure this opportunity. Now is the time to build that momentum.

The future of Barkley Regional Airport will be shaped by the travel decisions made every day. And today, the Purchase Region has the chance to lead by example.

Country is serving them.

The County wants to serve them too. They are engaged in a program “Nest Op” by which we bring these transitioning soldiers and spouses to McCracken County for a visit. They see what the County has to offer, meet employers, and are encouraged to relocate here.

In the next year, and for 5-10 years, McCracken County will require several thousand construction workers to build out multibillion dollar facilities. Once built, there will be a need for thousand employees to operate and manage these facilities for generations.

So... McCracken County is not just (1) bringing thousands of jobs to the County, (2) bringing millions of dollars into the treasury (3) allowing a dramatic cut in taxes while (4) providing outstanding services to the residents; the County will (5) fill many of these jobs with the 101st Airborne Screaming Eagles.

How families can navigate spring break vacations

Spring break offers an ideal respite for families looking to get away from the hustle and bustle of daily life. Students can use a restful spring break to recharge their batteries for the home stretch of the school year, while parents will enjoy a pause from work and a school year filled with kids’ activities.

A family-friendly spring break will require some planning to ensure such an excursion is within budget and appropriate for travelers of all ages. With that in mind, parents planning a spring break getaway with their children can consider these tips.

- Book flights as early as possible. If the family aspires to take to the friendly skies during spring break, then book flights well in advance so the cost of air travel doesn’t bust the budget. According to the affordable travel experts at Dollar Flight Club, fares for flights between mid-March and early April can spike by anywhere

- from 20 percent to 50 percent. That’s because airlines know spring break is a popular time to travel. While booking early might not lead to huge savings, it will give parents more freedom to pick and choose flights based on variables important to them, like flight times and ticket costs. The longer you wait, the more expensive and less accommodating a flight may be.

- Avoid hotspots. Spring break hotspots tend to be overcrowded and a little raucous, which is less than ideal for families with young children. When planning a family-friendly spring break, look for locales off the beaten path. Early to mid-March is peak spring break season for many colleges and universities, so if children’s schools let out for spring during this time it may be wise to avoid oceanfront destinations that typically attract lots of college students. If the budget allows, spring break might prove an ideal time for an international trip with the family.

- Emphasize outdoor activities. As winter winds down, people from all ages tend to get a little cabin fever. Come spring break, look for destinations where outdoor activities abound. Access to activities like hiking, kayaking, swimming, and other outdoor favorites can provide a necessary escape from the cold weather back home.

- Visit a big city. Beaches draw crowds come spring break, but cities tend to be less overrun by tourists during this time of year. Consider visiting a big city and taking in all it has to offer. Flights and accommodations to such locales might not cost as much as travel and lodging to oceanfront destinations, so this can be a great time to visit a big city and take advantage of the cultural and culinary offerings it serves up. Spring break need not be a budget buster for families looking to get away this March or April.

Bill would strengthen oversight of state's energy regulators

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – Sen. Brandon Smith, R-Hazard, has filed legislation aimed at strengthening oversight of Kentucky's energy regulators and improving how utility decisions are made for the families and businesses who pay the bills.

Senate Bill 8, given the low number to indicate it's a priority of the Republican supermajority in the chamber, will modernize the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) by updating its structure, expanding professional expertise and reinforcing accountability in utility regulation.

Supporters say SB 8 focuses on long-term affordability and responsible energy policy by ensuring the state's utility regulator is equipped to handle increasingly complex rate cases, infrastructure investments and transmission projects that directly affect household budgets and economic growth.

"Utility regulation affects every household and employer in Kentucky," Smith said. "SB 8 strengthens the commission's ability to make informed, transparent decisions that balance affordability, reliability and fairness for ratepayers. These are all challenges my constituents in eastern Kentucky are facing, and I'm committed to doing everything I can to fight for them."

SB 8 expands the Public Service Commission from three to five members to increase capacity and strengthen oversight of more than 1,100 regulated utilities statewide. Under the bill, three commissioners would be appointed by the governor and two would be appointed by the Auditor of Public Accounts, with all appointments subject to Senate confirmation. Supporters say the expanded structure will help reduce bottlenecks as the commission reviews rate cases, infrastructure proposals and consumer complaints.

It also defines professional qualifications for commissioners. At least one must be a licensed Kentucky attorney with at least seven years of active legal practice.

The remaining commissioners must have education or training and at least five years of experience in areas such as economics, engineering, accounting, finance, utility regulation, infrastructure safety, business management or environmental management. This is intended to ensure that regulatory decisions are grounded in technical expertise.

SB 8 would require political balance, limit commissioners to three terms and prohibit more than two members from the same profession.

Commissioners would elect their own chair every four years, promoting shared leadership and accountability within the body.

Oversight of the PSC would be moved to the State Auditor's Office under the bill.

The bill has been assigned to the Senate Natural Resources and Energy Committee, which is chaired by Smuth. It is scheduled to be heard Wednesday at 10 a.m. in Capitol Annex, Room 129.

2026-2027 Kentucky fishing and hunting licenses available

Press Release

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The 2026-2027 Kentucky license year for fishing, hunting, boating and more begins on Sunday, March 1, 2026. Outdoor enthusiasts are able to purchase all the licenses, tags and permits they need to enjoy Kentucky’s outdoors through the end of February 2027.

Licenses and permits are sold online through the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resource’s License Sales portal and the My Profile app, both searchable on the department’s website at fw.ky.gov. Licenses and permits also are sold at agent locations across the state. A list of license agent locations by county is available on the department’s website.

The 2026-2027 license and permit fees will remain the same as the current license year ending Saturday, Feb. 28, 2026. License and permit fees for the 2025-2026 license year were increased slightly across the board in January 2026 following a new, inflation-based pricing system measured on the Consumer Price Index (CPI), the national measure of inflation calculated by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Federal Duck Stamp and application fees were exempt from CPI adjustments.

In Kentucky, a license covers basic hunting or fishing for many species, whereas additional state permits are required when pursuing specific species, such as fishing for trout or hunting for migratory birds, deer, wild turkey or black bear. Sportsmen’s-type licenses include multiple species permits as well as basic hunting and fishing privileges.

For newcomers to all the great outdoor opportunities that Kentucky has to offer, a reduced-cost sportsman’s license is now available for resident first-time buyers. Only individuals who have not purchased an annual Kentucky hunting or fishing license – or a combination license that includes an annual license - since 1996 are eligible. The $37 license includes a resident hunting and fishing license, spring turkey permit, fall turkey permit, trout permit, state migratory bird and waterfowl permit and statewide deer permit.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife provides a number of resources to assist avid outdoor enthusiasts and newcomers alike with information on waterbodies, public lands, fishing and hunting education and all the regulations to help anglers and hunters make the most of their time outdoors via its website and the hunting and fishing guides it produces annually. This includes the new Fishing and Boating Guide available online and in print.

Another great resource is the Fish Boat KY app. Available free from the Apple App Store and Google Play, the app helps anglers find waterbodies, boat ramps and other water access from the palm of their hand. Users can also search by species of fish, store copies of their licenses, and much more using the smartphone app.

The department receives its primary funding through revenue raised by the sale of hunting and fishing licenses and permits, as well as federal excise taxes generated by the sale of recreational firearms and ammunition, archery gear and fishing equipment.

For questions, the public may refer to the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Licenses webpage or type “Licenses” into the search bar on the agency website (fw.ky.gov), or contact the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Information Center at 800-858-1549 or at info.center@ky.gov, weekdays 8 a.m. – 4:30 p.m. (Eastern), except holidays.

Bluegrass Outdoors: Hunting and Fishing Traditions in Kentucky

Kentucky offers some of the finest hunting and fishing opportunities in the United States, thanks to its diverse landscapes, abundant wildlife, and well-managed conservation programs. From the rolling hills of the Bluegrass Region to the dense forests of the Daniel Boone National Forest, the state provides ideal habitats for a wide variety of game species.

Deer hunting is especially popular in Kentucky, with the state known for producing trophy-sized white-tailed bucks. Turkey hunting also draws thousands of hunters each year, particularly during the spring season when gobblers are active across wooded ridges and open fields. Small game such as squirrel and rabbit provide additional opportunities for outdoor enthusiasts.

Fishing in Kentucky is equally rewarding. The state is home to renowned fisheries like Lake Cumberland, Kentucky Lake, and Lake Barkley. Anglers can target largemouth bass, crappie, catfish, and bluegill in these waters. Trout fishing is also available in cold-water streams and in the Cumberland River below Wolf Creek Dam.

With strong conservation efforts and accessible public lands, Kentucky continues to be a premier destination for hunters and anglers seeking both adventure and tradition in the outdoors.

VICTORIOUS Living ...in a troubled world

Why God loves us

By Teresa LeNeave
leneave2@comcast.net

I'm sure you, or someone you know, has struggled with believing God really loves everyone on this earth. It may be hard to believe that a righteous God loves everyone, when clearly, everyone has problems and we're not righteous unless our sins are covered by the blood of Jesus.

War. What better example is there for struggling with the question of who God loves? If we believe the Bible, we can quickly see from its opening pages to its closing promises, the Bible presents creation as intentional and deeply valued by God. Scripture portrays our Creator (God) as the one who designed the world with purpose and declared His work good. In Genesis, the Psalms, and the teachings of Jesus, the Bible reveals a consistent message: creation is special because it reflects the character, care, and glory of the Creator.

After forming the heavens and the earth, we read in Genesis,

God created humans. He said, "Let us make mankind in our image, in our likeness" (Genesis 1:26-27). This sets human beings apart from all the rest of creation. All human life, carries intrinsic worth not because of achievements or status, but because of divine design. It's not how good we are, but how good God is.

King David often questioned why God loved mankind so much. The Psalms talks about the grandeur of creation and the dignity given to humanity, but in Psalm 8, David is in awe at the heavens—the work of God's fingers—and then asks, "What is mankind that you are mindful of them?" Despite the vastness of the universe, God pays attention to human beings. The Psalms declares humanity is "crowned with glory and honor", entrusted with stewardship over the earth.

In Psalm 139 David proclaims, "You knit me together in my mother's womb ... I am fearfully and wonderfully made." David believed human value begins before birth and is rooted in God's personal involvement.

In the New Testament, Jesus echoes the worth of humanity. Matthew 6:26, reminds us to consider the birds of the air, noting that God feeds them, and then asks, "Are you not much more valuable than they?" If God cares for even the smallest details of creation, how much more does He care for human beings?

I understand the Bible's portrayal of creation challenges views of some people and cultures who see life as meaningless or purely material. But Scripture presents a world with purpose and a humanity crowned with dignity. Every person, regardless of where they are born, or who they are, carries inherent worth because they reflect the image of God. God loves us all. In light of the current bombing, and loss of life around the world, let's pray for people everywhere, that God's grace and mercy reigns over us all.

Upcoming Youth Xplosion 26

Joshua & Christy Sullivan from Be Real Ministries. Friday will consist of in-person registration and an evening service/worship service. Saturday events include workshops, prayer time, and morning and evening worship services. Lunch and dinner will also be served on Saturday. Advance Registration cost is $30.00 until Friday, March 13th. After that date, the registration cost is $40.00. On-site registration is also available for $40.00. Registration, except for on-site registration, will be online. For additional registration information, contact Rev. Joshua Sullivan at berealministries.com or Pastor Scott

Wade at (217) 899-8639.

We are proud and excited to bring this youth conference to the Paducah area. The youth are the future leaders of the church, and we look forward to helping to lead them to obtain a closer relationship with our Lord & Savior, Jesus Christ, and the Holy Spirit. For more information you can contact Equip Church at 270-441-7900.

WASH YOUR HANDS

Bro. Brandon G. Bramlett
Bandana Baptist Church

"For God's sake, wash your hands!" Dr. Ignaz Philip Semmelweis thundered this desperate plea in the middle of a meeting of doctors in the mid-19th century. In his day, there was an alarmingly high death toll among new mothers, post-surgery patients, and even medical professionals—and Semmelweis suspected that unwashed hands were the culprit. After inventing a chlorine solution that effectively eliminated bacteria from surgical instruments and hands, his suspicions proved true. Unfortunately, his advice was ignored (as he was believed to be insane), and doctors continued to unknowingly kill patients by neglecting sanitation. Those entrusted with saving lives were unknowingly ending them because of their contaminated hands.

Likewise, the Great Physician's admonition to believers is, "For My sake, wash your hands!" As James said, "Cleanse your hands" (James 4:8b). The Lord calls His gospel-entrusted people to keep themselves clean and holy as they minister to a world sick with sin (Rom. 12:2; 2 Cor. 6:14-17; Gal. 6:14; 1 John 2:15-17). Wickedness is the most contagious spiritual bacteria known to man, and believers must exercise extreme caution when preaching Christ to an idolatry-infected world, lest they become ill and kill their testimony. Christians must remain "unstained from the world" (James 1:27), or they will cause more harm than good by transferring the stain of sin to those who need cleansing from Christ's blood (1 John 1:7b).

Do you remember the unnamed prophet from Judah? His story is told in 1 Kings 13, and his sole responsibility was to preach the word of the Lord without becoming tainted by idolatry. He was sent to preach the cleansing word of God to the sin-polluted king, Jeroboam. But he was admonished to do so at a distance—he wasn't even permitted to eat with him (1 Kings 13:8-9). But, despite resisting Jeroboam's cunning offer of dinner, he ironically accepts an identical invitation from a false prophet in Bethel (1 Kings 13:18-19).

He was subsequently slaughtered by a lion, and the prophet's testimony died with him (1 Kings 13:24-25). Unlike the unidentified prophet from Judah, believers are called to speak God's word and the gospel without becoming infected by idolatry. The Lord Jesus exemplified this by befriending sinners, but not their sin (Matt. 11:19; Luke 7:34). Unlike the Judean prophet, the Prophet from Galilee ate with tax collectors and sinners, and He made it home pure (Mark 2:15-22). Christ reached the world without becoming worldly.

Christ is our example. The prophet from Judah and doctors from old are our warnings. The hymn-writer Harper G. Smyth (1873-1945) reminds us in Make Me a Channel of Blessing:

"We cannot be channels of blessing

If our lives are not free from known sin;

We will barriers be and a hindrance

To those we are trying to win."

Will you administer the soul-saving remedy of the gospel with hands washed through sanctification?

OUTDOOR Truths

By Gary Miller
Outdoortruths.org

I've noticed lately how the fishermen are getting amped up for the spring tournaments. A recent trip to my local bait shop confirmed my suspicions. There were brochures everywhere promoting those upcoming events. But another thing I've noticed is how bad the weather has been lately. I guess it's normal for this time of year, but there are usually some good weekends when the fishermen can get on the lake, find where the fish are, and experiment with what they might be hitting. If everything stays the way it is now there will be no early preparation. It will be practice as you go. There are, however, a few things that most anglers already have in their bag of tricks; namely that they have done this before. They will begin their pursuit at the places that have produced in times past. That doesn't mean that success will be certain, only that they will be able to begin with a certain amount of confidence, which is crucial. In fact, one of phrases I've heard all my life when it comes to fishing, is "Fish with what you're confident in." That is, if you are casting some bait without the expectation of a fish biting it, you need to switch; no matter what someone else might tell you. Confidence is undoubtedly important because it affects so many other things. It affects the speed to which you fish, your concentration, and your overall attention you must have to set the hook. Really you can't say too much about confidence. On the other hand, while confidence might win the moment, it might just lose the day and the tournament. If one has to choose between confidence and certainty, he better choose the latter and adjust his confidence. And this especially goes for things that hold more weight than a fishing tournament.

It amazes me sometimes how individuals can be so set in their ways without any real confirmation that what they are settled on is valid. Many times their confidence comes from another individual who also has no foundation for his or her beliefs. They simply believe something because so and so said so – be it a friend or family member. Or this unwarranted confidence has come from a moment of success. For a fisherman it means that just because you had a good day with that bait before, it doesn't mean it will work every time.

Again, it is better to be certain than have confidence. Now, what about things of eternal consequence? If you have confidence and cannot adequately defend why you have such confidence, then you may be fooling yourself. Certainty will always come from a statement of fact based upon testable evidence. If this is not true in fishing, you may be casting in a bathtub. If this is not true in matters of your faith, you may wake up one day to find that what you put confidence in, left you holding an empty bag at God's weigh-in.

Who said retirement is the end of our calling?

By William F Holland Jr.
billyhollandministries.com

As days pass, we can complain about time flying or rejoice in our blessings. I never thought much about retirement when I was younger, but as the saying goes, it's never too late to be what you might have been. Had anyone told me I'd be a school teacher later in life, I would have been surprised. Now, as a teacher, I can honestly say it's the most exciting and satisfying profession I could have imagined. Teaching is a labor of love, and helping children with their education is among our highest priorities. Yes, occasionally they test my patience, but most are respectful and just filled with excitement and curiosity. Jesus loves the little children, and I sense the seriousness of guiding tomorrow's leaders, who will face difficult challenges, as they are being targeted by the dark side. It's critical for all of us to lead by example, as we help them understand right from wrong, to know God, and His truth.

I believe it's important, as we grow older, to stay active instead of just lying around. I realize that some older individuals have health issues and cannot do what they would like to do, but many are in decent shape, but just choose to do nothing. It seems the more a person gives in to their excuses of how they are tired from paying their dues, the worse they feel. Inactivity is alright when we are resting, but the more we get up and get going, the better we feel. I encourage everyone to find something really important to you and see how you can get involved. We've heard it said that we must not live to work, but work to live. Your goals are achieved the moment you commit yourself to them, so no matter how old you feel, or how many times you've officially retired, it's never too late to give the world a little more of what God has given to you. We should pray and ask for God's inspiration, strength, and wisdom, but hopefully, a person will eventually discover that he or she is the master-gardener of their soul and the decision-maker of their destiny.

I was talking to an older teacher the other day during our planning period, and we chatted about how different the world is now from what it was when we were growing up. We touched on everything from the high cost of living and how much the education system has changed, to how a godless society has rearranged the culture, mostly for the worse. I agreed when she said we need good role models for these children, and how teachers are on the front line with the opportunity and responsibility to demonstrate a Christ-like character while planting positive seeds of hope and truth. It's said that a teacher takes a hand, opens a mind, inspires a heart, and shapes the future, and I firmly agree that the influence of a good teacher can never be erased. Teachers do not just need employment; they know it's their life's calling. I've been a minister for over 40 years, and wanted to continue trying to make a difference, as it's true, teachers change the world – one child at a time. She concluded that we needed more Christian leaders involved with public education and thanked me for my efforts.

We went on with our day, going through the switch classes, and finally, at the end of my last class, there was a young man who stayed behind a few minutes to pick up pencils and papers from the floor, and connect some of the Chromebooks in the charging cabinet. I was turning out the lights, and told him how much I appreciated him, and out of the quiet, he calmly asked if I knew Jesus Christ as my Lord and Savior. It was as if the lights had been turned on again. I was pleasantly humbled and impressed. I wondered how many 13-year-olds are being driven by their love for God and have the awareness and faith to share the gospel with their substitute teacher? I told him I was a Christian, and was proud and inspired by his spiritual enthusiasm and commitment to the Lord. As I was walking out to my car, I thought about the teacher who earlier had shared her burden for the young ones, and I knew she would be encouraged to know there are still good people and wonderful kids in the midst of these trying times.

UK AD Mitch Barnhart announces retirement after 24 years

By KEITH TAYLOR
Kentucky Today

LEXINGTON, Ky. (KT) — Mitch Barnhart's tenure as athletics director at the University of Kentucky will end in June.

Barnhart announced his retirement Tuesday afternoon after Pete Thamel of ESPN first announced Barnhart's departure Tuesday morning.

"I'm not sure there's ever a finish line for leaders," Barnhart said of his thought process. "You get to a spot where you finish one job and the next one starts and then the next task and the next task and the next task.

At some point you have to say the baton is someone else's to carry.

"I'm so thankful that (UK President) Dr. (Eli) Capilouto is providing a 'what's next' after leaving this position and we can have an impact another way. It will matter to the University, it will matter to our department, it will matter to Kentucky. I'm super appreciative of this opportunity. My love for this place is overflowing," Barnhart said.

Mitch Barnhart announced his retirement as UK athletics director on Tuesday during his 24th year on the job. (Kentucky Today/Keith Taylor)

Now in his 24th year at Kentucky, Barnhart is the longest-serving athletics director in the nation and has been at the helm since 2002. Under his guidance, the school has claimed six national titles in various sports, along with 63 conference titles, including first-time championships in baseball, women's tennis, men's golf, women's swimming and diving and stunt.

"When you combine the passion of the Big Blue Nation and the education and the competition into the young people we put on that stage (of competition), it embodies what is the best of sport, what is best of this University," Barnhart said. "Creating the next set of leaders for our enterprise and our society is at a critical juncture. And we want to make sure we do that."

Capilouto said the goal of receiving a diploma and winning championships will remain the top priority for Barnhart's successor.

"Mitch often speaks of the idea that our goal at UK is for student-athletes to place championship rings on their fingers and diplomas in their hands. Those aren't mere words. They are aspirations that he continually has helped our program, our people and our students meet."

Barnhart will continue to serve in a new role as the executive-in-residence of the UK Sport and Workforce Initiative.

"This initiative will be part of a workforce effort that I mentioned in my remarks recently to the Board of Trustees and that I will be announcing more details about in the coming weeks," Capilouto said.

"Mitch is distinctly equipped to help us think about the future of intercollegiate sports. I am excited he accepted my offer to take on this new role."

Barnhart has overseen an athletics program that has achieved success on and off the field.

During his tenure, Barnhart has watched numerous sports programs succeed, raising the program's overall athletic profile.

There are several names to watch as Barnhart's successor including current deputy athletics director Marc Hill and Rachel Baker in the compliance department at the school. Other are Rob Mullens (Oregon), Scott Stricklin (Florida), DeWayne Peevy (DePaul) and Martin Newton (Samford) among other Barnhart proteges.

Legislation would address physician shortage

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – The state Senate is considering legislation directing the University of Kentucky, the University of Louisville and Eastern Kentucky University to coordinate a comprehensive search for actionable solutions to physician and health care shortages and expand health care access in medically underserved areas.

Senate President Robert Stivers, R-Manchester, is the sponsor of Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) 116, which he presented to the Senate Health Services Committee on Wednesday. The measure passed without dissent.

“Access to a doctor should not depend on your ZIP code,” Stivers told the panel. “By bringing our leading universities and partners together, we are taking a focused, data-driven approach to ensure more Kentuckians, especially those in unserved and underserved areas, have access to quality care. Strengthening our physician workforce and other healthcare providers strengthens families, communities, and the Commonwealth as a whole.”

Under the resolution, the three universities will need to collaborate with community partners, state agencies, professional associations, and other stakeholders, to identify strategies that address workforce shortages, improve physician retention in underserved areas, and expand access through technology and community-based care models.

More than 75 percent of Kentucky physicians practice in urban areas, leaving many rural counties without adequate access to primary and specialty care. As a result, residents in medically underserved communities must often travel long distances for treatment. This creates financial and transportation barriers that can lead to delayed or foregone care.

Senate President Robert Stivers is sponsoring legislation that prompts UK, Louisville and ECU to coordinate solutions to the physician shortage in Kentucky. (LRC photo) Hargis David Michael

“Who is better equipped than our leading universities to solve this healthcare problem?” said Stivers.

According to the Association of American Medical Colleges, 57 percent of medical residents continue practicing in the state where they complete their training. Lawmakers say they believe expanding graduate medical education opportunities in underserved regions could significantly improve long-term physician retention.

SJR 116, if passed by both chambers, is just like bills and carries the weight of law. It now heads to the Senate floor.

Bill requires jails to collect DNA after booking person on felony charge

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – Those facing felony charges in Kentucky may soon have to provide more than just their fingerprints upon arrest, under legislation that would require jails to collect a DNA sample when a person is booked into jail on a felony charge.

Rep. Patrick Flannery, R-Olive Hill, is the primary sponsor of House Bill. Sen. Julie Raque Adams, R-Louisville, testified alongside Flannery during the House Local Government Committee’s meeting on Tuesday.

Flannery testified that 31 other states have already enacted similar legislation, which has aided law enforcement in solving cold cases. “This is very helpful for different reasons. One is hopefully we can solve crimes that have been remaining out there.

Hopefully for folks that are innocent, this can be used to exonerate them.”

U.S. Supreme Court case Maryland v. King opened the door for states to pass legislation like HB 414, Flannery said.

Adams told the committee she first filed similar legislation years ago. Then, Kentucky would’ve been a pioneer, she said. Today, Kentucky is considered an outlier compared to its surrounding states. “I’ve always been deeply committed to this, and I’ve always thought it was the right direction.”

Under HB 414, collected DNA would be sent to the Kentucky State Police’s forensic laboratory. The DNA samples could only be used for criminal justice purposes.

The legislation limits

DNA collection upon felony arrest to adults. The bill would require the samples and the DNA profile to be expunged upon acquittal, a dismissal or a conviction for a nonfelony offense. Individuals who successfully complete a pretrial diversion program could also qualify for expungement.

A five dollar fee for collecting DNA evidence was removed from the bill. Flannery said the state does not collect a fee for fingerprinting or other aspects of the booking process, so the change would make the DNA collection no different. He also said HB 414 would have a “minimal, if any” fiscal impact.

The bill won unanimous approval from the committee and now heads to the House floor.
