Kentucky Agricultural Finance Corp. approves more than $3.7 million in loans

Financing bolsters beef, horticulture, poultry, and grain farmers across the state

‘Friends of Agriculture’ license plate now available for purchase

By Tom Latek
Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – Kentucky drivers can show their support of the state’s agriculture community with a new “Friends of Agriculture” license plate, which is now available for all vehicles, Commissioner of Agriculture Jonathan Shell has announced on Thursday.

“Kentucky is beautiful, and Kentucky agriculture is a special way of life for many,” Shell said. “This new plate allows everyone to showcase their appreciation for farming and all it brings to this state and community. It’s a simple way to show your pride and enthusiasm for the agricultural lifestyle.”

The new plate was made possible by passage of House Bill 157, which was sponsored by Reps. Ken Upchurch, R-Monticello; Adam Moore, D-Lexington; and Mitch Whitaker, R-Fleming-Neon. It was enacted during the 2025 legislative session and expanded the eligibility for an agriculture special license plate. Before its passage, the previous agricultural special license plate was only available to those with a qualified farm vehicle.

The “Friends of Agriculture” plate does not replace the farm plate. The new plate is an additional way for individuals to show their pride in Kentucky agriculture, but don’t qualify for the farm plate.

FFA and 4-H members from across the state submitted designs for the new plate. The final plate design features a scenic rolling hills farmland highlighted with an image of the flag of the United States in the corner.

The design was inspired by the submitted artwork from two students, Caden Penn, a sophomore and FFA member at Crittenden County High School, and Alyssa Woodard, a sophomore and FFA and 4-H Club member of Henderson County High School. Each student received a $250 award for their winning submission.

The purchase and renewal of the special license plate include a $10 fee that will go into the “Ag Tag” fund and be divided equally among Kentucky 4-H, Kentucky FFA and the Kentucky Department of Agriculture (KDA), the organizations that provide for Kentucky’s agricultural future.

The new plate, which can be personalized, is available for purchase at County Clerk offices across the state or on the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet’s website.

FRANKFORT – The Kentucky Agricultural Finance Corp. (KAFC) approved 18 agricultural loans totaling $3,713,010.50 for projects across the Commonwealth today at its monthly board meeting.

Agricultural Infrastructure Loan Program (AILP) Two Agricultural Infrastructure loans totaling up to $500,000 were approved. Loan recipients were in Fulton ($250,000) and Union ($250,000) counties.

KAFC participates with lenders to provide financing to producers making capital expenditures for agricultural projects through the AILP. Eligible projects include permanent farm structures with attached equipment that improves the profitability of farming operations. Producers may be eligible for up to $250,000 not to exceed 50 percent of the project.

Beginning Farmer Loan Program (BFLP)

Twelve Beginning Farmer loans totaling up to $2,438,010.50 were approved. Loan recipients were in Barren ($250,000 and $250,000), Breckinridge ($100,000), Caldwell ($125,000), Harrison ($250,000), Hopkins ($175,000), LaRue ($115,510.50), McLean ($172,500), Meade ($250,000), Mercer ($250,000), Todd ($250,000), and Warren ($250,000) counties.

The BFLP is designed to assist individuals with some farming experience who desire to develop, expand, or buy into a farming operation. Beginning farmers may qualify for financing to purchase livestock, equipment, or agriculture facilities; to secure permanent working capital; for the

AG secures guilty plea, nearly $71,000 restitution in Hopkins County Medicaid fraud case

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Attorney General Russell Coleman

announced today an investigation by the Attorney General’s Office of Medicaid Fraud and Abuse Control led to the conviction of a southern Indiana woman who stole thousands of dollars from Kentucky’s Medicaid program.

Sylvia Townsend-Marlow, 56, of Corydon, Indiana pleaded guilty to a total of seven felonies related to defrauding Kentucky’s Medicaid program. According to an investigation by the AG’s Medicaid Fraud and Abuse Control, Townsend-Marlow received nearly $71,000 in payments from Medicaid by submitting fraudulent timesheets to Kentucky’s Cabinet for Health and Family Services. The abuse happened over a two-year period.

Townsend-Marlow pled guilty in Hopkins County Circuit Court to two counts of Presenting Fraudulent Claims to Defraud

Kentucky’s Medical Assistance Program (Class D Felony) and five counts of Criminal Possession of a Forged Instrument in the Second Degree (Class D Felony). The judge sentenced Townsend-Marlow to five years’ probation and ordered her to pay restitution in the amount of $70,838.91.

“Every dollar stolen through Medicaid fraud is a dollar taken from someone in need and those who commit fraud must

and will be held accountable,” said Attorney General Coleman.

The AG’s Office of Medicaid Fraud and Abuse Control investigated the case. Assistant Attorney General Michael Brophy prosecuted the case on behalf of the Commonwealth.

The Kentucky Attorney General’s Office of Medicaid Fraud and Abuse Control receives 75 percent of its funding from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services under a grant award totaling $7,221,026 for the federal fiscal year (FY) 2026. 25 percent of that grant, totaling $1,805,254 for FY 2026, is funded by the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

To file a Medicaid fraud or abuse complaint, visit ag.ky.gov/Medicaidfraud or call the Medicaid Fraud and Abuse Hotline at 1-877-ABUSE TIP (1-877-228-7384).

Kentucky Dept. of Agriculture raising hope for farmers battling mental health struggles

The Raising Hope team held the MASH Barn dedication ceremony at Farmers' Appreciation and Awards Day in Owensboro.

Farm life is not an easy row to hoe. Between the physical nature of the work and the mental stress caused by numerous issues ranging from weather to wealth, farmers can find themselves raising crops and livestock, but not their own spirits.

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture is working to address these issues through the Raising Hope program, which encourages farmers to take the extra steps needed to keep themselves and their families safe, healthy, and happy.

The program began in 2019 through the combined efforts of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture Safety Director Dale Dobson and Dr. Cheryl Witt, RN, Extension specialist senior and associate professor, assistant dean of Undergraduate Programs at the University of Kentucky College of Nursing. The initial focus was on mental health and suicide prevention, but it quickly expanded to include farm safety as well as personal health screenings.

"It's all about saving lives," Dobson said. "By teaming up and building this together, we're 20 years ahead of where we would have been by doing this individually."

Witt, who is the sixth generation of a Kentucky farm family, said the independent nature of most farmers and occupational demands create barriers to seeking help for physical ailments, undergoing preventative screenings or monitoring basic health issues. So, the Raising Hope program takes such assistance directly to farmers with a traveling medical trailer called the Mobile Agriculture Safety and Health (MASH) Barn.

"We take nursing students to ag events and offer health screenings," Witt said. "We found that if farmers are around other farmers who do these screenings, then they are more willing to participate. And that's the perfect time to also provide some mental health information. By meeting farmers where they are, we're reaching people who don't normally get reached."

In addition, the Raising Hope program has handed out more than 25,000 challenge coins. These tokens contain a message of support as well as the 988 number for the National Suicide Hotline.

"The coins are to let people know, 'You are appreciated,'" Dobson said. "Those three words can change a person's day and turn everything around."

Murray, Paducah Companies Among Eight Receiving $862K in State Innovation Grants

By Laurna Todd
KPI Writer

Gov. Andy Beshear announced that eight Kentucky companies will share more than $862,000 in state matching funds to support innovation and high-wage job growth, with local impact reaching communities like Murray and Paducah.

The awards are part of Kentucky's nationally recognized Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) and Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) Matching Funds Program, overseen by KY Innovation. The state funding will help match $6.6 million in federal grants awarded to the companies.

In Murray, Fibonacci LLC, doing business as HempWood, continues advancing engineered hemp-fiber wood products. The company manufactures oriented hemp board, a durable, lower-emitting alternative to traditional hardwoods for interior applications. The funding supports continued product development and technology improvements, strengthening advanced manufacturing in Calloway County.

In Paducah, Santerre LLC is addressing the region's invasive Asian carp problem. Western Kentucky waterways have been heavily impacted by the species, which disrupts ecosystems and local economies. Santerre converts invasive carp into organic fertilizer through an innovative process designed to reduce energy use compared to synthetic fertilizers while offering a sustainable agricultural solution.

Other recipients include Louisville-based CreoSalus Inc., EndoNavis LLC and PGXL Technologies LLC, along with Lexington-based Thermisoln LLC, Wild Dog Physics LLC and ZDC Tech Ltd. Co..

Since its inception, Kentucky's SBIR/STTR matching program has helped companies leverage $7.50 in federal or private investment for every $1 in state funding, supporting more than 781 high-paying jobs across the commonwealth and strengthening the state's growing technology sector.

Forsythe named Marshall County girls' golf head coach

Staff Report

BENTON — Marshall County High School has announced Sarah Forsythe as its new girls' golf head coach.

Forsythe is a former collegiate golfer at Murray State University, where she played from 2017-2021.

She has been a teacher at Marshall County High School for the past four years, teaching business classes. Forsythe was an assistant coach for the Lady Marshals in the 2025 girls' high school golf season.

Marshall County is a perennial girls' golf title contender.

"Marshall has an incredible program, and my goal is to continue the legacy we have," Forsythe said.

Kate The Great Reaches 1000 Points

By Tim Taylor
KPI Sports Writer

Ballard Memorial senior Kate O’Neill reached a milestone goal of scoring her 1,000th point as a Lady Bomber basketball player. She entered her senior season needing 252 points to reach that achievement. She came into the teams 28th game of the season needing 19 points to become the 21st Lady Bomber to reach that mark. She only scored 2 points in the opening half on the February 17th game against Fulton County, but things changed quickly in the 2nd half. She scored 9 points in the 3rd quarter on Senior Night and was only 8 points away. The Lady Bomber coaches then knew tonight was going to be the night she reached her dream with Ballard Memorial leading the Lady Pilots 51-29. She hit a pair of free throws early in the 4th quarter and then found an open look from the right corner for a trey to pull to within 3 points. Coach Barry Phillips called a timeout and drew up a three point opportunity for O’Neill. She would not disappoint. She came from the low block and popped out, just to the left of the top of the key. O’Neill received a pass from Rilee Bodell and she spotted up. O’Neill appeared right at home with an effortless looking three point shot that sank through the netting for the magical points she was looking for. “It feels great. The reward for all the hours in the gym I put in, and all this work, it is just so good to have my name on the banner.” One recipient of that work has been Coach Barry Phillips who has been O’Neill’s head coach for the last 3 seasons. He said, “The most special thing for her is the love of the game. She has earned everything she has gotten. She is a special player and awesome person all around.” Ballard Memorial Principal Tim Adams has a unique perspective of O’Neill. He coached her the 1st 4 years of her varsity playing career and has the opportunity as a principal to see the academic side of O’Neill. Adams said, “She wanted to do well on the basketball court, even at a younger age, and Kate put in the time to do well and it was fun to watch her achieve her goal.” Adams added, “She is a quiet leader in our building and epitomizes our truth, honor, and loyalty.” Ever since she scored those first two varsity points as a 7th grader on January 23rd, 2021, the goal of reaching that scoring banner has been something she looked to accomplish. She accomplished it in style and reaching that goal on Senior Night makes it even sweeter.

KHSAA Board of Control conducts fifth meeting of 2025-26 academic year

Staff Report

LEXINGTON — The KHSAA Board of Control conducted its fifth meeting of the 2025-26 academic year on Thursday, Feb. 19.

The Board of Control, by a 15-3 vote, directed the Commissioner’s office to draft a recommended alignment for football in 2027 and 2028, and track and field for 2026-27 and beyond, using an enrollment multiplier of non-public schools. The draft is to use the grades 9-12 boys’ enrollment for football and the total grade 9-12 enrollment for track and field and cross country. Both alignment drafts will be sent to the member schools after an upcoming special meeting, once approved, with final adoption at a meeting in May.

The Board of Control voted 17-1 to suspend its January decision to place Cornerstone Christian in the 29th District. CCA Athletic Director Matt McGowan made his case before the Board, requesting to remain in the 30th District. At the January meeting, the Board had placed Cornerstone Christian, in its first year of postseason eligibility, into the 29th District to begin with the 2026-27 schoolyear.

Grace James Academy in Louisville, an all-girls school, will become eligible for postseason play in the 2026-27 schoolyear and be placed in the 22nd District. Placing Grace James Academy in District 22 balances the number of boys’ and girls’ teams in that district.

The Board of Control approved the distribution of additional membership surveys for future sports or sport activities of pickleball, stunt and girls’ flag football, with results expected at the meeting in May.

The first two rounds of the 2026 KHSAA Baseball State Tournament presented by UK HealthCare will be held at the home of the Lexington Legends, Legends Field, based on board action. The Board of Control also agreed to a two-year transition to shift the soccer season, so it ends one week later than it currently does. Placing the finals on the first weekend in November is a key step in securing long-term options to host the finals at the Lexington Sporting Club stadium, and the entire movement of the start of the season allows schools to adjust schedules over a two-year period, eventually playing fewer contests during the hotter part of August.

As part of the public comment section, Meade County correspondence was received regarding its request to move from the 3rd Region to the 5th Region and join the 17th District. Conversely, last June, Fort Knox expressed thoughts of moving from the 5th Region and entered a request into the record to possibly move to the 3rd Region. In addition, a letter from Floyd County Schools was read into the record, which requested consideration of moving Lawrence County and Magoffin County to a different district. No action was taken on these requests, which will be reviewed again at a future meeting.

Claudette Herald, Superintendent of Oldham County schools, was named President-Elect by a unanimous vote.

Region 1’s Doss and Collins Earn KABC Coach of the Year Honors

Welding Wins and Strong Representation Highlight Year for Local FFA Chapter

The Ballard Memorial High School FFA chapter is celebrating a stand-out year marked by competitive success and strong student involvement under the leadership of FFA Teacher Ryan Buchanan. One of the chapter's most notable accomplishments came at a welding competition hosted by Murray State University. The team earned first place overall, a significant achievement that advanced them as the regional representative at the state level. Out of four students who competed, two earned first and second place honors at regionals — a testament to both individual skill and the strength of the program. The victory not only showcased technical ability in welding but also highlighted the dedication and preparation of the students involved. Looking ahead, the chapter is preparing for speaking competitions scheduled for March at Murray

State University. Participation is strong, with every available speech slot already filled. The chapter plans to take a full group of competitors, demonstrating the students' enthusiasm for leadership development and public speaking. With accomplishments already under its belt and more opportunities on the horizon, the Ballard Memorial High School FFA chapter continues to build momentum and represent its school and community with pride.

The Hickman County High School FFA chapter has enjoyed a full and productive year, marked by leadership development, competition and community involvement, according to FFA Advisor Ethan Hall. Students began the year by attending camp at the Kentucky FFA Leadership Training Center, where members strengthened teamwork and leadership skills alongside peers from across the state. The chapter also traveled to the National FFA Convention & Expo in Indianapolis, giving members the opportunity to experience one of the nation's largest student leadership gatherings.

Closer to home, Hickman County FFA members competed in the Hickman County Conservation District writing contest and hosted several successful chapter activities. Their annual Mum Sale fundraiser provided strong community support, while a Fall hayride brought students together for fellowship and chapter engagement. Two chapter members were recently selected to participate in the Kentucky Agricultural Education Legislative Program, representing Hickman County in Frankfort and gaining firsthand experience in agricultural advocacy and public policy. Members also had the opportunity to meet Stephen Vaden,

U.S. Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, during a recent WAVE Ag partnership luncheon. The event allowed students to learn more about agricultural leadership and federal-level decision-making. Looking ahead, the chapter is preparing for upcoming Ag Sales and Employability contests. Hall said students are eager to compete and showcase the skills they have been developing throughout the year. With strong participation at the local, state and national levels, Hickman County FFA continues to provide meaningful opportunities for students to grow as leaders and future agricultural professionals.

The Fulton County chapter of the National FFA Organization has had an active season filled with fundraising success, agricultural projects, competitions, and community outreach, according to Agriculture teacher and FFA Advisor Katie Elder. The chapter recently hosted its annual Chili Supper and live/silent auction, one of its largest fundraisers of the year. Elder said the event receives tremendous community support and serves as a night where members, families, and local residents come together to ensure its success. Students are now preparing for spring speaking competitions and Murray State University Field Day. In addition, members are busy working in the greenhouse ahead of upcoming plant sales. Students are also caring for sheep in the school barn, with hopes of welcoming lambs in March — giving members valuable, hands-on livestock experience. Looking ahead, students are especially excited about attending the Murray State rodeo to explore another sector of the agriculture industry. They are also preparing for speaking day, Field Day, FFA Camp, and State Convention this summer. Community service remains a strong focus. Members plan to purchase Easter meals for 10 local families and assemble “Easter Boxes,” continuing a project from last year. They also hope to host another Easter egg hunt for kindergarten through second-grade students at Fulton County Elementary School, following last year’s successful and well-attended event. Pictured from left to right are Abryona Tucker, Alaina Sheppard, Lexi Uzzle, Brayden Burkeen, and Waylon Brunswick. Back row: Tallas Mitchell and Asia Powers. Elder said Fulton County FFA strives to take hold of every opportunity that comes its way, providing students with leadership, service, and real-world agricultural experiences.

The Graves County High School FFA chapter has experienced a banner year filled with state and national recognition, competitive success and individual achievement, according to FFA teacher Abby Lyell. Among the chapter’s recent honors, Darcey Sloan, Mannix Hamilton and Jayce Hale were selected as Murray State FFA All-Region Stars during an awards ceremony in November, recognizing them as top leaders within the region. At the 2025 Kentucky FFA State Convention, the chapter was named a State Rater Gold Emblem Chapter and further selected as a top 10 percent chapter in the state. That distinction earned Graves County an invitation to apply for the National Chapter Rating. In October, members were recognized at the National FFA Convention & Expo in Indianapolis as a National Three-Star Chapter — the highest rating a chapter can achieve. Competitive success continued last summer as the chapter’s State Agricultural Issues Forum team earned second place at the state competition in June. In addition, Cole Hayden was named State Champion in the Nursery Proficiency contest at the state convention. The chapter was especially excited about FFA Week festivities, including its annual Tractor Day held Friday, Feb. 20. The event saw strong participation, with 32 tractors driven to campus as part of the traditional tractor drive-in. The display highlighted the pride students take in agriculture and showcased the community’s strong support for the program. Looking ahead, Lyell said members are eager for a busy spring competition season. In the coming weeks, students will submit proficiency applications based on their Supervised Agricultural Experience programs, run for regional office, compete in Regional Speaking Day events in a variety of speaking contests and parliamentary procedure, and begin preparing for Career Development Events. Those contests will culminate at Murray State University FFA Field Day in April. With national recognition, state championships and an active slate of events, Graves County FFA continues to demonstrate excellence in leadership, service and agricultural education.

Carlisle County FFA Competes Statewide, Earns Top Ratings

By Laurna Todd
KPI Writer

The Carlisle County High School FFA chapter has experienced a year filled with competition, recognition and community outreach, according to FFA teacher Mercedes Branham.

The chapter has competed in numerous events this school year, including the Kentucky State Fair, Vet Science, Land Judging and Farm Bureau Outstanding Youth contests. Their dedication and preparation resulted in the chapter earning a Gold rating at the state level and a prestigious Three-Star rating at the national level — one of the highest honors an FFA chapter can achieve.

In addition to competitions, the chapter hosted its “All in for Ag” event, where members showcased the six sectors of agriculture to students across the entire district. The event highlighted the diversity of agricultural careers and educated students on the importance of agriculture in everyday life.

Chapter leaders also participated in their annual officer retreat in Gulf Shores, where they focused on strengthening teamwork and planning for the year ahead.

Chapter leaders also participated in their annual officer retreat in Gulf Shores, strengthening teamwork and planning for the year ahead. Pictured at the retreat are back row (left to right): Kase Kelly, Myles Fourshee, Ty Watson and Knox Kelly. Front row: Mrs. Branham, Kaidance Vela, Abree Warren, Reese Eddleman, Brooklyn Dunn and Keyli Courtney.

Health Awareness, with the goal of feeding and reaching agriculturalists throughout the county while raising awareness about mental health challenges within the agricultural community. The event was a success thanks to the hard work of the FFA Officer Team. With the support of local businesses that donated items for a silent auction, and the generosity of those who placed bids, the chapter raised more than $1,500 for the FFA Alumni Scholarship Fund while continuing the tradition of honoring and supporting local farmers.

Looking ahead, the chapter’s overall goal for the year is to achieve the highest possible ranking at the Kentucky FFA State Convention.

With strong competition results, national recognition and meaningful community engagement, Carlisle County FFA continues to demonstrate leadership and dedication to agricultural education.

Western Kentucky FFA Chapters Promote Agriculture, Road Safety During FFA Week

By Laurna Todd
KPI Writer

WESTERN KENTUCKY — National FFA Week brought a unified celebration of agriculture across western Kentucky, as students from Ballard Memorial High School, Carlisle County High School, Graves County High School, Calloway County High School, Marshall County

High School and McCracken County High School joined other area chapters in recognizing the vital role farming plays in their communities.

Throughout the week, chapters hosted activities highlighting agricultural education, leadership and community involvement. Many schools incorporated their traditional Drive Your Tractor to School events either just before or during FFA Week, while other chapters marked the week with their own unique programs and outreach efforts.

While most tractor events have concluded, the message continues beyond the celebration. With spring planting season approaching, residents can expect to see more farm equipment traveling rural highways and county roads. Agriculture educators across the region are encouraging motorists to slow down, remain patient and give farmers the space needed to operate safely.

FFA programs throughout western Kentucky also used the week to acknowledge the challenges facing today’s agricultural industry, including rising costs, market uncertainty and advancing technology. At the same time, students demonstrated that the future of farming remains strong, supported by multigenerational farm families and communities that continue to stand behind agricultural education.

As FFA Week wraps up, the focus now shifts from celebration to preparation, as another planting season begins across the region.

Calloway County High School FFA members brave frigid temperatures as they drive tractors through town to campus, kicking off FFA Week with a strong display of agricultural pride and dedication.

Farm Bill Update

With the divided congress and the divided country, I don't like the odds of us
getting a new farm bill
this year. The House is currently working on a new bill but then
it takes the Senate
to agree. We will see what happens. However, the Big Beautiful
Bill passed last fall
provides many provisions that are normally included in a Farm Bill. Some of the areas that help us in agriculture were that
the Reference Prices
used for PLC and ARC County went up. Corn rose from $3.70 to $4.10. Soybeans went from $8.40 to $10.00
and wheat went from $5.50 to $6.35 a bushel.

The bill also allows for an update in base acres. My initial thought was that it would not affect the grain areas of Ky
very much, but the
data shows a different picture. The state could get as many as 696,730 acres added.
These acres seem to be greatest in the counties that lost
pasture and tobacco.
Christian County is
the top in the state and
could add 75,000 acres.
Graves is 4th in the state and could add 43,000 acres. Ballard is about middle of the pack and is looking at 13,000 acres. This is not new farmland, it is just land that was not counted as cropland

for farm programs in 2002 when soybean bases were added. Nationwide Texas, North Dakota, Nebraska and South Dakota all may add over 2 million acres. Most of that is land being cropped
that used to be cattle.

The BBB also made
some changes to crop
insurance. The subsidy was raised a little,
meaning that the cost
for coverage should go down a little. The were also some new products created
that will allow you
to increase coverage
cheaper than you can buy up from normal
coverage. The problem with these new products is that they are based off county yields. Talk to your insurance agent as these may be a way for
you to get a little more coverage at a cheaper price. For example you may be able to take the normal 75% level and use SCO or ECO to get more coverage cheaper than buying up to
the 80% or 85% level.

The BBB also made
the 2025 crop election
of PLC or ARC- Co
unimportant as you
will get the best option
no matter what you picked. We are going to have to make an election again for the 2026 crop. We won't know the Marketing

Year Average Price
until the fall of 2027.
With the increased
reference prices, it
makes the decision
harder for corn and soybeans. For wheat I think PLC is the obvious choice. The USDA
had forecast the MYAP for 2026 to be $4.89. We are currently trading
at @ $5.50 for next summer and the reference price went up to $6.35. We are well in the money for a PLC
payment and the only way it would not be best is if the price goes
up to $6.50 or higher.
We won't need a PLC
payment if the price
goes up that much.

Corn and soybeans
are much harder to
reference price for corn is $4.10. The estimate from USDA
for 2026 is $4.09 but we
are currently trading

at $4.60. After much study and discussion
with others I feel like
you probably need
to stay with ARC-Co
for both corn and
soybeans for the 2026

crop. For instance,
with corn the odds
of getting a larger ACR-Co payment are
greater until the price
falls all the way to $3.79. We are in trouble if the MYAP gets that low. Soybeans are the same story, ARC-Co is the better choice
until the price gets to $9.15. We are more than $2 above that
now. Arc-Co for Corn
and soybeans and PLC
for wheat. That is my thinking currently, it
could change in the future if prices change,

I will try to keep you
updated.

I would not expect
the payments for corn
or soybeans to be very high with either program so if you make the wrong choice not much will be lost.
FSA is still waiting on guidance from USDA
on getting the BRIDGE payments out. The girls in the local office
will be contacting
you when they finally know something.
They are hopefully by
March 1.

Sudoku Puzzle

How it Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle! Good Luck! ANSWERS IN THE B SECTION

Burger King updates Whopper sandwich for first time in decade

WEVV
Special to West KY News

EVANSVILLE (WEVV) — Burger King is rolling out the first significant updates to its signature Whopper sandwich in nearly 10 years, a move the company says was inspired directly by guest feedback.

The “elevated” Whopper experience features several physical changes to the build and presentation of the sandwich. Key updates include a more premium, better-tasting bun and improved mayonnaise. To maintain the integrity of the sandwich during transit, the Whopper will now be served in a box rather than a traditional wrapper. Despite the changes, the brand is maintaining the core elements of the iconic product. The sandwich continues to feature a quarter-pound of 100% flame-grilled beef and remains free of artificial colors, flavors, and preservatives. It also retains its standard stack of freshly cut tomatoes and onions, lettuce, and pickles. “The Whopper is an icon, so we didn’t set out to reinvent it,” said Tom Curtis, President of Burger King U.S. & Canada. “Instead, we elevated it based on direct Guest feedback”. The initiative follows a period of operational restructuring for the fast-food giant. According to Curtis, the company spent several years modernizing restaurant locations and strengthening kitchen consistency before deciding to alter the core menu. This consumer-driven approach included a recent program where guests were invited to call or text Curtis directly to share their experiences. The updated Whopper is now available at Burger King locations nationwide. Founded in 1954, Burger King currently operates more than 19,000 locations globally.

University of Kentucky ceremony recognizes alumni and friends of excellence

The Martin-Gatton College of Agriculture, Food and Environment’s Night of Excellence honors individuals for their leadership, service and accomplishments

By Christopher Carney

LEXINGTON, Ky.— During the 2026 Night of Excellence event, the University of Kentucky

Martin-Gatton College of Agriculture, Food and Environment recognized outstanding alumni and friends whose careers and service reflect the college’s land-grant mission and commitment to advancing Kentucky. “Night of Excellence is special because it gives us the chance to pause and recognize the impact of our alumni and partners who are using their knowledge and leadership to strengthen communities and industries,” said Laura Stephenson, UK vice president for Land-grant Engagement and dean at Martin-Gatton CAFE. “When you look at our honorees, you can see our land-grant mission in action.”

Hosted by the Martin-Gatton CAFE Alumni Association and emceed by Carl Nathe, the Voice of the Kentucky Wildcats, the ceremony honored individuals with the Horizon Award, Paul Appel Alumni Service Award and Oran & Myrtle Little Friend of Martin-Gatton CAFE Award.

The Horizon Award honors early professional accomplishments of career achievement and a promise for future professional success. The Oran & Myrtle Little Friend Award and Paul Appel Alumni Service Award recognize a strong commitment and extraordinary service to Martin-Gatton CAFE. In addition, alumni were inducted into the Hall of Distinguished Alumni — the college’s highest bestowed honor. Awarded on a biennial basis, this honors and recognizes extraordinary alumni who have contributed substantially to their chosen fields, communities and society.

Horizon Award honoree:

Antomia “Mia” Farrell (B.S. Agricultural Economics, ’11)

Rehabilitation success stories bring patients home

By Laurna Todd
 Scene Writer

Recently, two area rehabilitation centers are celebrating meaningful victories as patients regain independence and return home to their families after serious health challenges.

At Parkview Nursing and Rehabilitation Center, staff recently recognized Stephen for completing his rehabilitation journey following a stroke. Through dedicated physical and occupational therapy, Stephen worked steadily to rebuild strength and confidence. His progress allowed him to walk again, safely get in and out of bed, and manage everyday self-care tasks—important milestones that mark a return to greater independence.

Meanwhile, at Life Care Center of La Center, another patient reached a heartfelt goal just in time for the holidays. Larry arrived needing support to rebuild strength, mobility, and swallowing

The image shows the top section of a business card. On the left, the text 'EZ REMODELING & Construction LLC' is displayed in a large, bold, sans-serif font. 'EZ' is in blue, while the rest is in black. To the right of this text is a yellow circular graphic containing the word 'Specializing In' in a script font and the word 'QUALITY' in a large, bold, blue, outlined font. Below the main text, there are two photographs of interior renovation work: one showing a room with new flooring and another showing a room with exposed joists and pipes. A red starburst graphic on the left contains the text 'FREE estimates'. A central logo for 'BBB ACCREDITED BUSINESS' is also present. At the bottom, a blue banner contains the text 'Floor Replacement • Pier Work • Moisture Barriers' and 'Floor Joist Repair • Sagging Floors' in white. To the right of this banner, the phone number '270-887-6523' is written in large red digits, followed by the owner's name and address in smaller black text.

Senior care you can trust

By Lurna Todd
Scene Writer

Choosing the right senior living option is an important decision for families seeking the best care for loved ones. Modern senior living now focuses on independence, dignity and quality of life, offering a range of choices designed to meet changing health and lifestyle needs. In Western Kentucky, Life Care Center of La Center provides a trusted option for both short-term rehabilitation and long-term skilled nursing care.

Conveniently located in La Center near Paducah and major medical providers such as Lourdes Hospital and Baptist Health

Paducah, the facility combines easy access to advanced health services with a warm, homelike environment. With 24-hour skilled nursing and individualized inpatient and outpatient rehabilitation, residents receive personalized care tailored to their medical needs and recovery goals.

Senior living today includes many types of communities designed to support aging adults at different levels of need. For individuals who require medical supervision, post-surgical recovery, wound care or chronic condition management, skilled nursing facilities like Life Care Center of La Center provide essential support delivered by experienced nurses and therapists in a comfortable, supportive setting.

Beyond clinical care, the center prioritizes daily activities, social engagement and meaningful amenities that enhance mental and emotional well-being. Comfortable living spaces, dining programs, religious services, planned group outings and family-focused support help residents feel secure, connected and truly at home.

As families explore senior living choices, Life Care Center of La Center stands out for compassionate care, professional expertise and a genuine commitment to helping residents feel at home—whether for recovery, rehabilitation or long-term living.

2025 annual Whatever it Takes Champion: Stephanie Cole

By Parkview Nursing and Rehabilitation Center

This honor is truly well deserved. Stephanie, LPN, consistently goes above and beyond, not only for residents, but for their families as well. She keeps them informed of even the slightest changes in condition, and shows extraordinary compassion during very difficult times. A family member of a patient shared that, during the patient's final days, Stephanie would come in on her days off to check on her and support the family. Stephanie regularly goes out of her way to care for others, bringing special snacks and items to residents who may not have anyone else to do so. She truly does whatever it takes to ensure residents and families feel cared for and supported.

We are so proud and honored to have Stephanie as part of the Parkview team, and grateful for the compassion she shows our residents, families, and peers. Stephanie was honored with a plaque, $250 cash award, and recognition on the Whatever It Takes Champions wall. Congratulations, Stephanie!

VICTORIOUS

Living...in a troubled world

Released from past mistakes

By Teresa LeNeave
leneave2@comcast.net

If you're a beach lover like me, you've watched as ocean waves wash onto shore melting your footprints into the surrounding sand. If you've noticed, sometimes those powerful waves must take two or three sweeps across the grainy sand before the tell-tale signs of someone walking completely disappears. A tiny footprint may only take one gush of water, but a big and deep footprint takes more than one.

That's like the footprints left in our lives because of sin. Some are barely seen. Others are very deep. What can we do about the footprints that just won't go away?

In life, not only do we have to contend with footprints we've left behind, we also have to learn to deal with the footprints our spouses, our children, our churches, our government and sometimes even the footprints our parents left behind. But know this, the past has no power over you if you don't focus on it. Apostle Paul had lots of reasons to regret his life before Christ, but he said, "This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before" (Phil 3:13). Focusing on the left-behind footprints is not healthy. Satan tries to keep our focus on what is wrong, but God wants us to think on what is right. For some of us, it's time to change our thinking habits, if we want to be released from past mistakes. The Bible says, think on these things: whatever is true, honest, just, pure, lovely and of good report (Phil. 4:8). Not once does Jesus say to think on your failures and shortcomings. For all of us, the first step in washing away deep and unpleasant footprints, the answer is to give our life to Christ. After that, it becomes a journey. You're not instantly sanctified and perfect. We are, however, cleansed by his blood and forgiven. Trouble is, forgiveness does not wipe out the past. The price for sin is very costly. Sometimes, bad choices turn our entire lives around and continue spinning in mindless circles. Only Jesus can help people deal with the spinning that is out of control.

Too many of our choices are made without 'thinking'. Take, for instance, when I fell off a city scooter ripping the hamstring muscle from my bone. Getting on that scooter was a decision I made without thinking and it's one I'll be reminded of for the rest of my life. I'll no longer have the freedom to do just any activity I want to. My life will be filled with many restrictions and, for me, that's a gross reminder that there's always a price to pay for not thinking before acting foolishly.

No one can change your life, but you. God can change your heart and your desires, but it will be up to you to obey God and change your life. In this life, we will all leave deep and unwanted footprints, but thank God, He has the ability to wash away our sins and make us whole again.

ALMOST HOME

Bro. Brandon G. Bramlett
Bandana Baptist Church

On lengthy road trips, I often groan and grumble about the rigors of long travel, and my wife will always reassure me, saying, "Just a little while longer—we are almost home." And it never fails to cheer me up, no matter how far away we are from home. Because of that reminder, I keep my foot on the gas, my eyes on the road, and the guiding map on my GPS. And all the way, I am encouraged in my heart because I know the road won't go on forever. Indeed, home will be just around the corner.

All who are redeemed by faith in Christ are headed home, too. We are destined for our Father's heavenly house. As Jesus assured, "In my Father's house are many rooms. If it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you? (John 14:2). The Bible even says that we are headed for a place not built with human hands: "For we know that if the tent that is our earthly home is destroyed, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (2 Cor. 5:1). In fact, one day we will "be away from the body and at home with the Lord" (2 Cor. 5:8).

But right now, we aren't at home. We are sojourners traveling up the rough and rocky road of our Christian pilgrimage—and it is not easy. We often grow tired and exhausted on the road of righteousness (Gal. 6:9). We sometimes have to wait when we wish we were moving forward, much like being stuck in traffic (Psalm 27:14). But we need only to remember the biblical truth that we are almost home.

We cannot be certain of how close we are, of course. But we can be certain that we are closer to our heavenly home-going with every passing hour. Every evening sunset brings us closer to the day when the Son will shine brightly upon us (Malachi 4:2 Rev. 22:5). Every night of sleep brings us closer to the day when we shall rest from our labors (Rev. 14:13). We may be years or only seconds away from entering our eternal home, but no matter what, we are almost there.

And thus, we need to keep our eyes on the highway of holiness and our heads held high in faith, allowing the guiding map of holy Scripture to direct us to our heavenly home. And all the while, we may sing the words of William Hunter's hymn, I Feel Like Traveling On: "My heav'nly home is bright and fair,

I feel like traveling on.

Nor pain, nor death can enter there,

I feel like traveling on.

Yes, I feel like traveling on,

I feel like traveling on;

My heav'nly home is bright and fair,

I feel like traveling on."

It seems, years ago, I simply reacted when hunting season came. The preparation phase lasted only about a month. The reason was because I hunted area farms. Unlike many hardwoods’ areas, farmland hunting is fairly predictable. The deer are basically going to be there from year to year. I know this cuts out the need for a lot of scouting articles, but the truth is the truth. For instance, I have heard all my life that oak trees only produce acorns every three years or so. Now, I’ve not studied this, so don’t send me mean emails. What I have discovered is this. If there is an oak tree on the side of a field, and that field is fertilized by the farmer every year, that tree will have acorns every year. I have also noticed this. If that same farmer has several cows and those cows fertilize around that oak tree every year (if you know what I mean), that tree will have acorns every year as well. Things just are a little different on the farm. And what about that wonderful spring gobbler? I’ve hunted them in the deep woods and on the farm and I can tell you, once again, if that farmer has cows and he feeds those cows a little sweet feed; he is creating one of the best management areas for turkeys. What each hunter needs to realize is that each cow pie is a natural bait pile that a turkey will eventually find.

Somehow, I just can’t see this technique being given print space in any outdoor magazine; but again, that’s life on the farm; a little different and, in my opinion, a lot better. The farmer has learned that nothing is wasted – even waste. He has learned that what the rest of the world sees as worthless and even unmentionable is the catalyst for growth and the medium for consistency. He has learned that waste is not waste. It is fertilizer!

What all of us need to remember is there is nothing that happens in our life that is useless or worthless. God never looks at something we have done and says, “I can’t use that.” He uses everything and has promised that even the things we consider of no use, He will use to grow our life into one that is consistent in bearing spiritual fruit year after year. As I like to say, not only can God make something out of nothing, but He can make something out of everything. And that means what looks like cow pies to you, is fertilizer to God.

Do this in remembrance of me

By William F Holland Jr.
billyhollandministries.com

Last week, we touched on the subject of baptism, and this week I thought we could follow up with a chat about communion. For those who are Christians, the church ordinance of communion is a sacred and spiritually personal event. In some circles, the Lord’s Supper is referred to as a sacrament, while others call it an ordinance, depending on the theological tradition. However, regardless of the term, within Christian churches, it is seen as a means of grace and an integral part of obedience and worship, established by Christ Himself. A time of sacred reflection on Christ’s death and resurrection. Where does it come from? It’s a recorded true event that is told in each of the four Gospels, along with the Apostle Paul, who also discusses it in 1 Corinthians 11:23-29. Verse 26 declares, “For whenever you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the Lord’s death until He comes.”

Most have seen the images of what is called the “Last Supper,” where Jesus and His disciples are sitting around a large table eating and drinking at what was called the Passover celebration. We read in all four gospels about this true account, and how Jesus wanted His followers to remember Him as the promised Lamb of God. In Luke 22:19-21, we read, “Jesus took a loaf of bread and gave thanks to God. As He broke it and gave it to His disciples, He said, this is my body given for you; do this in remembrance of me. In the same way, after the supper he took the cup, saying, this cup is the new covenant in my blood, which is shed for you.” Matthew 26:30 reveals that He concluded the meal by singing a hymn, then they walked out into the night to the Mount of Olives. As they entered the garden of Gethsemane, Jesus told them to rest while he took some time to pray. It was there that, as predicted, Jesus was betrayed by Judas. The following day, He was crucified.

Jesus declared that the bread spoke of His body that would be broken, as Psalm 22 and Isaiah 53 describe that He would be so brutally and violently tortured that it was hardly recognizable. The wine spoke of His blood, with Him indicating the terrible death He would soon experience. It is agreed that most likely He literally bled to death. Christ, the perfect Lamb, the Son of God, became the fulfillment of the countless Old Testament prophecies concerning a Redeemer. Genesis 3:15, often called the protoevangelium or first gospel, is an amazing biblical prophecy where God reveals that at the crucifixion, the serpent will bruise the heel of Jesus the seed of the woman, but in the resurrection, Christ the Son of God will crush the serpents head, establishing the Lord as the ultimate power and authority in the cosmic struggle between good and evil. In my view, the communion does not literally transform into the blood and flesh of Jesus, which is called transubstantiation. Since it is symbolic, I do see the point. It’s simply about keeping the sacrifice of His great love fresh within our hearts and minds.

So, as we partake of the unleavened bread and wine or grape juice, the elements serve as a covenant symbol of Christ’s body and blood, and how we grieve as He willingly suffered. He gave the supreme sacrifice of love that can redeem us. Now we can have spiritual hope and faith, as we celebrate this sign of unity and truth among believers, anticipating His return. I’ve served communion in churches, prisons, and correctional facilities throughout the years, and I currently work with a jail ministry preaching the gospel, baptizing, and serving communion, where I remind everyone how serious this is. First Corinthians chapter 11 says that whoever receives these elements unworthily will be guilty of sinning against the body and blood of the Lord. They absorbed damnation to themselves, and some have literally died. Never allow the ceremony to become a dead and formal ritual, or come to the Lord’s table with unconfessed sin. Personally, when I take communion, I embrace this as entering into the holy presence of God. A sacred time and place of repentance, asking forgiveness, being cleansed, and made presentable to become one with Him. I imagine Jesus hanging on the cross, and what great love that caused Him to willingly die to save me. It’s a deeply meaningful moment of remembering and appreciating.

Heart, kidney and metabolic health are connected and early action matters

[PADUCAH, KY] — Heart disease, kidney disease, diabetes and obesity are often thought of as separate conditions, but health experts say they are more closely connected than many people realize. A growing focus on Cardiovascular-Kidney-Metabolic (CKM) syndrome highlights how problems affecting the heart, kidneys and metabolism can interact and worsen over time. CKM syndrome refers to the combined effects of heart disease, kidney disease, diabetes and obesity and share common risk factors, including high blood pressure, high blood sugar, abnormal cholesterol and excess body weight. Because they often occur together, they increase the risk of serious complications such as heart attack, stroke and heart failure.

In February 2025, Baptist Health Paducah was selected to participate in the American Heart Association’s Cardiovascular-Kidney-Metabolic (CKM) Health Initiative™, a new national effort to improve prevention, screening and treatment of interrelated conditions that can lead to heart disease and stroke. Participating hospitals and clinics in the initiative are recognized as “CKM Health Groundbreakers.” Baptist Health Paducah is among 150 health care sites across 15 regions in the U.S. working together to advance care for more than a quarter-million patients. “When we look at heart disease, kidney disease and metabolic conditions like diabetes, we now understand that they don’t occur in isolation,” said Craig Beavers, PharmD, Cardiovascular Serviceline Executive Sponsor Baptist Health Paducah. “They are deeply connected. The earlier we recognize risk factors, the more we can do to prevent long-term damage and improve overall health.”

According to the American Heart Association, 42% of U.S. adults live with at least two chronic conditions such as high blood pressure, abnormal cholesterol or diabetes. These overlapping conditions significantly increase the risk of developing CKM syndrome.

If left unmanaged, CKM syndrome can lead to serious health problems, including heart failure, irregular heart rhythms such as atrial fibrillation, heart attacks, clogged arteries, stroke, peripheral artery disease, kidney failure, disability and premature death.

CKM syndrome is categorized in five stages, ranging from Stage 0, when no risk factors are present, to Stage 4, when individuals have both CKM risk factors and established heart disease. Early stages may involve excess body fat, elevated blood sugar, high blood pressure or abnormal cholesterol levels, often without noticeable symptoms.

Health experts emphasize that early recognition and coordinated care can make a meaningful difference. The five key health factors to monitor and manage are: blood pressure, cholesterol, weight, blood sugar and kidney function.

“You have more control than you may think,” said Beavers. “With the right care plan, including medications when appropriate, healthy lifestyle changes and regular checkups, many people can slow or even reverse the effects of CKM syndrome.”

Kentucky State Parks launches new mobile app to improve visitor experience

FRANKFORT, Ky. – Building on the New Kentucky Home initiative, the Kentucky Department of Parks has implemented a new mobile app designed to enhance state parks’ outdoor recreation experiences. For the first time, guests will have access to accurate digital maps that are also available offline.

The free mobile app, powered by OuterSpatial, provides up-to-date information and resources on outdoor recreational opportunities and events, curated experiences and hiking trail maps.

“From hiking, activities, golf and more, our Kentucky State Parks are a great place to visit, and this free app will help make it easier for families to enjoy,” said Gov. Andy Beshear. “If you haven’t visited one of our 44 Kentucky State Parks in a while, this new app and passport challenge is a great reason to plan a stay.”

“We’re excited to finally have a mobile app that will give Kentuckians and visitors a better way to explore the incredible range of parks across our state,” said Kentucky State Parks Commissioner Russ Meyer. “From hiking and camping to cultural events and family outings, this app brings it all together in one reliable and easy-to-use place.”

Key features for the mobile app include:

- Detailed Park Maps – View boundaries, trail networks, restrooms, parking areas and more.
- Over 1,000 Outdoor Points of Interest
- Discover scenic overlooks, boat launches, playgrounds, climbing areas, historical sites and other amenities.

Outings – Follow curated experiences created by park staff to help you explore something new.

Challenges – Complete outdoor goals and earn digital badges for achievements.

Real-Time Updates – Stay informed about trail closures, facility changes and event schedules.

To celebrate the launch, Kentucky State Parks is introducing the KY Passport Challenge, a statewide invitation to explore all 44 state parks. Participants can check in at any state park to get started. Each check-in earns a unique digital badge tied to that park, with the goal of collecting all 44 badges to complete your passport.

Located in Alexander County and approximately one mile from the Cairo city limits, the island provides convenient access to town while maintaining a private, river-oriented environment. Angelo Towhead lies on the final stretch of the Middle Mississippi River and is recognized as the last island before the river transitions into the Lower Mississippi at the Ohio River confluence.

TIMBER INVENTORY OVERVIEW

- Total Timberland: Approximately 522 acres
- Sawtimber Volume: Estimated 9.9-10 million board feet (Doyle 78 log rule)
- Average Volume: Approx. 19,070 board feet per acre Projected Species Composition (Gross Mill Volume)
- Cottonwood: ~8.95 million board feet (≈90%)
- Maple: ~554,000 board feet (≈6%)
- Miscellaneous Hardwoods: ~168,000 board feet (≈2%)
- Green Ash: ~132,000 board feet (≈1%)
- Swamp White Oak: ~76,000 board feet (≈1%)
- Elm: ~76,000 board feet (≈1%)

In addition to sawtimber, the property includes an estimated 37,000 tons of pulpwood, providing additional harvest value.

REAL ESTATE TERMS & CONDITIONS: The property will be offered in 2 tracts and combinations. A 10% Buyer's Premium will be added to the final bid and included in the deed transaction sale price. 15% as down payment on the day of the auction with balance in cash at closing on or before 30 days. The down payment may be in the form of cashier's check, personal check, or corporate check. YOUR BIDDING IS NOT CONDITIONAL UPON FINANCING. SO BE SURE YOU HAVE ARRANGED FINANCING, IF NEEDED, AND ARE CAPABLE OF PAYING CASH AT CLOSING. Closing shall take place on or before 30 days from auction date. All 2026 ad valorem taxes will be prorated at closing. The property will be sold by the deed. Logan’s Law clears House chamber with near unanimous vote

Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (KT) – Legislation aimed at significantly strengthening Kentucky’s sentencing and parole laws for serious and violent crimes cleared the Kentucky House on Tuesday by a vote of 93-1.

The measure, House Bill 422, is named Logan’s Law in memory of six-year-old Versailles native Logan Tipton. Logan was violently killed as he slept in his family’s home in 2015. House Bill 422 is sponsored by Rep. Dan Fister, R-Versailles, Logan’s State Representative, and Rep. TJ Roberts, R-Burlington.

Logan’s Law was named in memory of six-year-old Logan Tipton ton who was violently killed as he slept in his family’s home in 2015. The measure would put more teeth in Kentucky’s sentencing and parole laws.

“Logan was a kind, strong, and wonderful young man who loved his family and was a bright light to everyone who crossed his path,” Fister said when presenting the bill on the House floor. “He had his whole life ahead of him and now his family is living the worst nightmare any parent or sibling can endure. While no legislation can undo that loss, this bill aims to turn tragedy into meaningful reform.”

Ronald Exantus was acquitted of capital murder and first-degree burglary by reason of insanity in 2018, but was found guilty on two counts of second-degree assault and one count of fourth-degree assault for attacking other members of the Tipton family and was sentenced to 20 years in prison. Seven years later, he was released from prison in October on mandatory re-entry supervision, despite being denied release three times by the Kentucky Parole Board. Exantus was rearrested in Florida on October 9, just eight days after being released from prison, and is back in Kentucky state custody. He will be released later this year.

HB 422 expands and clarifies the definition of “violent offender,” increases the minimum time certain offenders must serve before becoming eligible for parole (including raising life-sentence parole eligibility from 25 to 35 years), and limits early release options such as mandatory reentry supervision for violent and high-level felony offenders.

The measure also requires consecutive sentencing for offenders convicted of multiple violent or serious felonies involving multiple victims, tightens parole eligibility rules, and adjusts reporting and data-tracking requirements to reflect longer sentences and parole restrictions. In addition, it revises procedures related to capital sentencing, aggravating factors, and treatment of defendants found guilty but mentally ill.

Logan’s Law now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Logan’s Law was named in memory of six-year-old Logan Tipton who was violently killed as he slept in his family’s home in 2015. The measure would put more teeth in Kentucky’s sentencing and parole laws.

Cats use strong finish to overcome Gamecocks, end 3-game slide

By KEITH TAYLOR
Kentucky Today

Kentucky’s rare three-game losing streak came to an end on Tuesday night with a sprint to the finish line.

The Wildcats (18-10, 9-6 Southeastern Conference) used a late spurt to overcome struggling South Carolina, 72-63, a win Kentucky desperately needed following losses to Florida, Georgia and Auburn over the past two weeks.

Kentucky coach Mark Pope and his squad were eager to put the three-game slide behind them with now three games remaining in the regular season. Pope admitted the past two weeks had been “emotionally wearing and taxing” on his squad.

“The pressure (at Kentucky) is ever present, which is such a privilege,” Pope said on his postgame radio show. “It’s why you want to come play at Kentucky. Nobody wants to go play where it doesn’t matter, right?”

Denzel Aberdeen scored 19 to lead Kentucky past South Carolina on Tuesday night. (UK Athletics photo)

But I do think there’s an emotional toll on our guys. I think the past couple games and then the game Saturday, the way it finished ... we spent more time trying to purge ourselves and refresh ourselves from the energy of the last 10 days.”

The players, including Mouhamed Dioubate, were relieved to avoid a fourth-straight defeat.

“We had a little adversity, but we fought through it,” Dioubate said. “Shout out to my team again, and Coach, he kept motivating us. Through the tough times throughout this game we fought through it. We’ve been doing that all year.”

Kentucky never led by double digits until the final minute and was clinging to a 59-57 lead with 2:52 left. After the brief spurt by the hosts, the Wildcats scored 10 unanswered, including a clutch 3-pointer by Collin Chandler to put the Gamecocks away.

“Collin (had) another crucial shot down the stretch to give us some breathing space,” Pope said. “I thought Mo and Brandon Garrison gave us great lifts. All four of our guys off the bench were positive plus-minus tonight. That really is important. The most important (thing) is the guys just kind of hung in there and got a win on the road, which is a big deal for us.”

South Carolina (12-16, 3-12) missed nine of its last 13 shots down the stretch, while Kentucky was successful on four of its last field goal attempts.

Denzel Aberdeen led four players in double figures with 19 points and connected on four of the team’s seven 3-pointers. Aberdeen made back-to-back treys during a 13-0 Kentucky run in the first half, the team’s longest scoring spree since a 12-0 run in a 92-68 win over Mississippi State on Jan. 10.

Pope praised the performance by Aberdeen, who played 37 minutes and didn’t commit a turnover in the backcourt.

“We needed a (big) game from him,” Pope said. “He’s been a little quieter the last few games and I thought he carried us tonight, which we needed. We needed him to do it. He rose up and got the job done.”

Dioubate followed Aberdeen with 12 points and added four rebounds. Andrija Jelavic tied a career-high with 11 points, while Chandler had 10 points. Malachi Moreno had eight points and had 11 rebounds.

Coming off a career-high 29-point performance in a 75-74 loss at Auburn, Otega Oweh missed double figures for the first time this season, finishing with eight points. Dating back to last season, Oweh had scored double figures in 30 consecutive games.

Kentucky shot just 39 percent (26-of-66) from the field and made just seven treys on 25 attempts and committed 15 turnovers. South Carolina managed just 13 points off turnovers, while the Wildcats scored 18 points on 12 miscues by the Gamecocks.

The Cats, though, held a whopping 48-28 advantage in rebounding, which proved to be decisive.

Gametracker: Vanderbilt at Kentucky, 2 p.m., Saturday. TV/Radio: ESPN, UK Radio Network.
