Huntingburg honors employees for milestone years of service

By Laurna Pruett
ING Writer

HUNTINGBURG — The City of Huntingburg recently honored employees celebrating milestone work anniversaries this year.

The employees were recognized for their dedication, hard work and continued commitment to the community during a special luncheon held in July.

Experienced and dependable employees play an important role in the daily operation of a city. From maintaining streets, parks and utilities to providing public safety and legal guidance, their work helps ensure residents receive reliable services and that the community remains a safe and welcoming place to live.

Longtime employees also bring valuable knowledge and experience to their departments.

Their commitment provides stability for the city while helping guide and train newer employees who will serve Huntingburg in the years ahead.

Those reaching milestones were Ray Kissling, 55 years, Fire Department; Larry Patberg, 50 years, Fire Department; Phil Schneider, 50 years, city attorney; John Reutepohler, 30 years, Electric/Gas Department; Jason Weyerbacher, 25 years, Fire Department; Rusty Drew, 15 years, Police Department; and Austin Aders, 15 years, Street Department.

Also recognized were Jace Merkel, 10 years, Parks Department; Mark Jackson, 10 years, Water Department; Kyle Smith, 10 years, Fire Department; Tyson Bredemeier, 10 years, Parks Department; John Veatch, five years, Fire Department; Rusty Bayer, five years, Fire Department; and Kelsey Erny, five years, Electric/Gas

Together, the employees represent 300 years of service to the City of

Although not everyone celebrating a milestone anniversary was pictured, all honorees were recognized during the luncheon.

Huntingburg. Their work and dedication have made a lasting difference in the city and in the lives of the residents they serve each day.

Hauntingburg Free Fest brings spooky fun to Market Street Oct. 9th

By Laurna Pruett
ING Writer

HUNTINGBURG

— A favorite fall celebration is returning to Huntingburg with a new name, a new date and a full evening of free family entertainment.

Formerly known as the Haunted Huntingburg Music Festival, the newly named Hauntingburg Free Fest will take place Friday, Oct. 9, along Market Street in Huntingburg.

The evening will begin with trick-or-treating on Fourth Street and a costume competition from 4 to 6 p.m. Live music will begin at 5 p.m., with the opening band to be announced.

Food trucks and “Boo”-ze vendors will be available from 5 to 9 p.m. A free Zombie Free Kids Zone featuring inflatables will also be open during that time. Costume contest winners will be announced at 6:15 p.m.

Dayne & Friends will headline the music stage from 6:30 to 9 p.m. The evening will conclude with a free outdoor showing of a Halloween favorite at 9 p.m. The movie title will be announced later.

Community events such as Hauntingburg Free Fest depend on residents showing up and taking part. Attendance not only supports the organizers who work to provide free activities, but also helps local vendors, businesses and the continued growth of community celebrations.

Residents are encouraged to bring their families, invite their friends and fill Market Street for an evening of music, food and Halloween fun. Additional activities and announcements are expected as the festival approaches.

HUNTINGBURG — Huntingburg City

Park will soon be filled with food, music and family fun as the 2026 Herbstfest returns Sept. 24-26.

The celebration will begin early with the Pre-Teen and Miss Herbstfest Queen Pageant at 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 20, at Market Street Park.

Herbstfest officially opens at 5 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 24. Opening-night attractions will include food booths, a craft show, pumpkin patch, children’s entertainment, beer garden and live music. The Baby and Toddler Talent Contest begins at 6:30 p.m. near the volleyball courts.

Friday’s activities include a golf scramble at 1 p.m. at Huntingburg Country Club. The festival reopens at 5 p.m. with food, crafts, children’s activities and live entertainment. A free teen and adult corn shucking contest begins at 7 p.m., followed by the Little and Junior Miss Pageant on the main stage. Cody Ikerd and the Sidewinders will perform from 9 to 11 p.m.

Saturday begins with the car, tractor, motorcycle and motor show from 8 a.m. to noon near the gazebo and north parking lot. A pickleball tournament begins at 9 a.m., and the craft show opens at 10 a.m.

Silly Safaris will present a free show at 11 a.m., while Cottonwood Ridge Farms will offer a free petting zoo from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Other Saturday highlights include free children’s games, pumpkin painting, a kiddie tractor pull, cornhole and horseshoe tournaments and the free Junior Firefighter Challenge at 3 p.m.

Live music will continue throughout Saturday, including performances by Hayley Payne, Borrowed Time and Eighty-Six.

The weekend will conclude with the Herbstfest Parade at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27. The parade will begin at Third and Van Buren streets and travel along Van Buren to Walnut Street, Walnut to First Street and First to Cherry Street.

Residents are encouraged to attend and support the volunteers, civic organizations, vendors and local businesses that make Herbstfest possible. Community participation helps preserve Huntingburg traditions and allows events like Herbstfest to continue for future generations.

Your customers are changing. Is your business changing with them?

Angie Sanchez-Hostetter
Executive Director
Dubois County Chamber of Commerce
info@duboiscountychamber.com

One of the biggest challenges of owning a business is realizing that your customers don’t stay the same forever.

Their needs change. Their habits change. Their expectations change. What worked five or ten years ago may not work quite as well today. Yet it’s easy to fall into the mindset of, “This is the way we’ve always done it.”

Take a look at your own business through your customers’ eyes. Is your website easy to use? Are your hours convenient? Are you communicating where your customers actually spend their time? Is your purchasing process simple? Are you offering the products or services people are looking for today?

This doesn’t mean you need to completely reinvent your business every time a new trend comes along. In fact, constantly chasing trends can be just as harmful as refusing to change. The goal is to understand your customers and make thoughtful adjustments when necessary.

Sometimes the change can be small. Maybe you adjust your hours, update your signage, offer online ordering, improve your customer service, or start communicating more regularly through social media. Other times, a bigger change may be necessary.

The best way to know what your customers want is to ask them. Talk to them. Read your reviews. Pay attention to the questions they ask and the things they request. Your customers are giving you valuable information every day; you just have to listen.

As business owners, we can become so focused on running the business that we forget to step back and experience it as a customer.

So, this week, take a fresh look. Walk through your business as if you’ve never been there before. What would you notice? What would make you want to come back? What might make you look somewhere else?

Your business doesn’t have to change everything to stay relevant. But it does need to keep moving.

The businesses that thrive aren’t necessarily the ones that change the most. They’re the ones that know when it’s time to change.

Care That Comes to You

Dubois County Health Dept. announces upcoming programs

By Laurna Pruett
ING Writer

JASPER — The Dubois County Health Department will offer two upcoming opportunities aimed at improving access to healthcare and preparing residents to respond during emergencies.

LifeSpring Health Systems’ Primary Care Mobile Unit will visit the health department from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. ET on the second Wednesday of each month. Upcoming dates are Oct. 14, Nov. 11 and Dec. 9.

The mobile unit provides a more convenient way for residents to receive routine care or assistance with specific healthcare needs. Those interested in scheduling, requirements or available services may call the LifeSpring Jasper office at 812-482-3020.

The health department will also offer a free American Heart Association Heartsaver First Aid, CPR and AED training course Oct. 21 from 9 a.m. to noon ET.

Health educators will provide hands-on instruction in first aid, cardiopulmonary resuscitation and the use of an automated external defibrillator. The course is open to Dubois County residents age 13 and older.

The training is intended for individuals with little or no medical experience, including those interested in emergency preparedness or who need a course completion card for employment or regulatory requirements.

Registration is required due to limited class space. For questions about the course, contact Mary Peters 812-481-7050.

Both programs will be offered at the Dubois County Health Department, 1187 S. St. Charles St. in Jasper.

‘Quest 4 the Flag’ brings outdoor adventure to Jasper Parklands

By Laurna Pruett
ING Writer

JASPER — Families, friends, coworkers and community groups are invited to put their problem-solving skills to the test during the Puzzled at Parklands: Quest 4 the Flag event Saturday, Oct. 3, at The Parklands of Jasper.

The outdoor adventure will take participants along a 1.5-mile course featuring nine challenge locations. At each stop, teams must complete a puzzle, activity or task before collecting a flag and continuing toward the finish line.

Two divisions will be offered. The Elite Division begins at 8 a.m. EDT and consists of four-person teams, with at least three members age 16 or older. The Family Division begins between 10 and 10:30 a.m. and includes four-person teams with two participants younger than 16 and two adults.

Registration is $60 per team, or $15 per participant. Prices will increase after 11:59 p.m. EDT Sunday, Sept. 27.

The event is designed to offer a fun, active outdoor experience while supporting the community. Ninety percent of the proceeds will benefit the Tri-County YMCA.

For additional information, contact DC Multisport at 812-482-9115.

VICTORIOUS Living ...in a troubled world

Jesus is still in the boat — you’re not alone

By Teresa LeNeave
leneave2@comcast.net

There is an old song many of us once sang: “Troublesome times are here; filling men’s hearts with fear.” Those words have been echoed throughout generations, because troubled times are nothing new. Yet while the world may give us reason to be concerned, this is not a time to panic. Instead, it is a time to embrace the promises of God; promises that never fail.

Hebrews 11:6 reminds us, “But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that comes to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.”

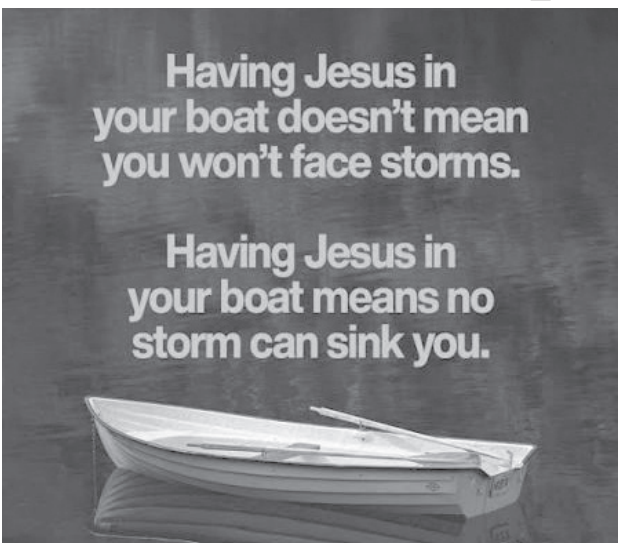

Faith requires determination and perseverance. It means choosing to trust God even when circumstances give us every reason to doubt. Doubt tells us that God is absent or that our circumstances are beyond His control. Faith tells us otherwise.

The Bible gives us a powerful picture of this kind of faith in the account of Jesus and His disciples caught in a violent storm. While the disciples feared that the ship would sink, Jesus was asleep. When they woke Him, He simply spoke to the wind and the waves, and the storm became calm. But Jesus did more than calm the troubled sea. He also calmed the troubled hearts of His disciples.

That is good news for us today. The same God who brought peace to the disciples in the midst of a storm is still able to bring peace to people facing storms of their own. Psalm 91 speaks of finding “rest in the secret place of the Most High.”

We are living through difficult times. Hearts are broken, and people everywhere are facing circumstances that can seem overwhelming. Cancer has touched countless families, and many are fighting for their lives. My own family has experienced this struggle. My sister has stage 4 lung cancer, and I recently learned that my cousin has also been diagnosed with stage 4 lung cancer. The struggle is real. Yet cancer is not the only battle people are facing. Every person carries some kind of burden. It may not be a disease. It may be grief, financial hardship, loneliness, broken relationships, fear, uncertainty or a battle that no one else can see. Whatever the struggle, people everywhere need comfort, healing and hope.

We know that when circumstances look bleak, God is neither surprised nor afraid.

Nothing catches Him off guard. He knows what will happen before it happens. He has all authority and all power, and He remains sovereign over His creation.

That does not mean we will always understand why He allows certain things to happen. There are questions for which we may never have answers in this life. But perhaps that is where faith becomes most important. In times of struggle, we learn to trust the Creator even when we cannot understand His ways.

If God can keep the universe in motion, surely He is capable of taking care of us. Jesus said in John 20:29, “Blessed are those who have not seen, and yet have believed.” Though we cannot see faith with our eyes, but that does not make it unreal. Faith is a confidence in the God we cannot physically see but who has revealed Himself through His Word and through His Son. First John 5:4 declares, “Faith is the victory that overcomes the world.” He sees what we cannot see. He understands what we cannot understand. And He knows how to bring His people safely through the storms of life.

That kind of peace does not come from pretending that problems do not exist. It does not come from blindly ignoring reality. True peace comes from believing God’s Word and knowing why we believe it.

We believe because God sent His Son to redeem us, to heal us and to restore troubled souls. The storm may be raging, but like the disciples, we do not have to face it alone. Jesus is still in the boat.

Choose to keep your face toward the light

By Dr. Billy Holland

Since before the world was made, God has known you and loved you. He has never taken His eyes away or ignored you. If you were to write down all the blessings and victories He’s provided, they would prove He has called you, saved you, and has been guiding and helping you every day of your life. You might say, it doesn’t seem like it, but remember, many times we made decisions that were not a part of His plan.

It’s common to be filled with a mixture of emotions. Worry, stress, sadness, and anxiety are everywhere, but just because there is a tornado of events going on around us does not mean we have to allow them to control us. Our minds are like sponges that absorb the constant sights and sounds of our chaotic world, but remember we are called to be guardians of what we think about. It’s in the quiet secret place of God’s presence that fills us with His hope, peace, and contentment.

Has disappointment in the past caused you to not be as confident or excited as you once were? Of course, we all have times in our lives when we are upset and wonder why things happen or didn’t happen. Stop beating yourself up; you are perfectly normal. Life is a series of ups and downs, and no matter how charismatic a personality you may have, there will be seasons when we search deep within our soul to see if we are being attacked, or if maybe we are just not following God. Whatever the case, it’s easy to wallow in our sorrows, but if we will turn our attention away from ourselves and focus on listening to the Lord, the dark clouds of confusion will begin lifting, and the joy and compassion of God’s presence will fill us with hope.

I want to share a word with you from Psalm 42:5, and repeated again in verse 11: “Why, my soul, are you downcast? Why so disturbed within me?

Put your hope in God, for I will yet praise Him, my Savior and my God.” It is said that David wrote these words, and if you study his relationship with God, you know he had his share of sorrows, but he also learned how to encourage himself. He wrote this when his son Absalom committed treason, but even with something as devastating as this, he expresses that faith in God can generate hope when everything seems hopeless. He examines his own heart and understands there are times we will not comprehend why we are going through trials, but we are to obey and glorify God while we are waiting for our answer.

Instead of going to bed and covering our heads, let us look beyond our pity party and focus our eyes on the prize of the high calling in Christ Jesus. Sometimes we are so absorbed with what we are going through, we just simply forget how much He cares about us. I had two situations a while back that could have been tragic, but God intervened in them both. I was driving on the bypass and was getting ready to change lanes when, at the last second, I saw a car beside me out of the corner of my eye. If I had made that mistake, it probably would have been my last. The second situation involved me being on a ladder on my front porch the same day. I thought I was on the bottom step, but I was actually on the step above and fell onto the concrete and into the storm door. I broke the door and have a few bruises, but miraculously I was not seriously injured.

Throughout our lives, we’ve had some ups and downs, but all in all we have a lot to be thankful for. I know it’s easy at times to feel sorry for ourselves, but instead of feeling cast down, may we consider where we would be without God’s grace. Hope is a small word like love and joy, but it’s the power within the human soul to trust God and to know that His will CAN be fulfilled in our lives. Depression and discouragement come upon us when we are focused more on our emotions than our spiritual armor, so don’t forget, optimism and pessimism are hourly choices we make within our conscience. Many times we are our own worst enemy. Keep your face toward the light – and the shadows will always be behind you.

Crying for milk

By Brandon Bramlett
Pastor - Bandana Baptist Church

The chilling cry shatters the serene stillness of midnight. It disrespects the disarming dawn, too—as the sun rises higher, the unsettling shriek grows louder. The sharp-edged screech is unpredictable and may strike you anytime and anywhere. Even the sacred space of a sanctuary is not exempt—the hysterical wailing disrupts the preacher’s sermon and disturbs the congregation’s singing. The scream erupts from the lungs of my baby boy when he is hungry—and he makes certain that his voice is heard.

Two seconds too late and his countenance becomes crimson. You cannot convince him to wait or distract him with toys. His appetite is insatiable, and he must be fednow.

Of course, he sometimes whines from boredom and whimpers when he wants to be held, but he has never once sobbed over news headlines, the color of his onesie, or because his stuffed animals looked at him the wrong way. His serious tears are solely for milk because his highest priority is being fed.

He puts me to shame because I tend to cry over spilled milk: when foul weather ruins a hike, traffic makes me late for an appointment, or technology refuses to cooperate when I need it to work. But how frequently am I agitated by an irrepressible hunger for the milk of God’s word? What irritates me more: someone’s unkind words or how little I have heard from the word of truth (James 1:18)? And how often am I distracted by worldly amusements which diminish my desire for the law of the Lord, to where I forget how much I need it? A Bible that often rests unopened on my desk testifies against me.

However, all believers—myself included—should “throw a fit” for the nourishment of the word of God. As Peter commanded, “Like newborn infants, long for the pure spiritual milk, that by it you may grow up into salvation” (1 Peter 2:2). Christians should ache with gnawing hunger morning, night, and throughout the hours between for the faith-food of Scripture. The Bible is not an optional appetizer or an occasional dessert—your spiritual life depends on it: “Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes from the mouth of God” (Matt. 4:4). Consequently, whether babes in Christ or seasoned saints, all children of God should crave the Scriptures, cry out for them, and drink deeply from its pages with a desperate urgency.

I have watched my son skyrocket from an eight-pound newborn who couldn’t hold up his head to a four-month old who can roll over, belly-laugh, and say “mama” (despite strong coaxing to say “dada” first). He can do what he’s never done because he eats like he’s never eaten. Likewise, to grow in Christlikeness like you never have and do for God what you’ve never done, you must eat the truth of Scripture like you never have before (Jer. 15:16; 2 Tim. 3:16; Ps. 119:11).

Put-and-take pheasant hunt reservations now open

Staff Report

INDIANAPOLIS — Reservations for put-and-take pheasant hunts will open for purchase beginning Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 7 a.m. ET at GoOutdoorsIN.com. The hunts take place from Nov. 21-29.

New for this year, pheasant hunt reservations will open for purchase in phases by property as listed below. All sales begin at the date and time listed and remain open until Nov. 9 or all reservations are sold.

- Glendale and Tri-County Fish & Wildlife Areas (FWAs) hunt reservations open Sept. 9 at 7 a.m. ET.
- JE Roush and Atterbury FWAs hunt reservations open Sept. 16 at 7 a.m. ET.
- Pigeon River and Winamac FWAs hunt reservations open Sept. 23 at 7 a.m. ET.

Also new for this year, a limit of 20 hunts per customer applies for each sales phase. For example, a customer may purchase up to 20 hunts total for the Glendale and Tri-County FWAs sale and then purchase up to 20 additional hunts for the JE Roush and Atterbury FWAs sale. Put-and-take pheasant hunts are no longer offered at Willow Slough FWA to allow for the continued re-establishment of wild ring-necked pheasants and bobwhite quail. Wild ring-necked pheasant hunting is available at Willow Slough FWA and associated properties during the regular season (Nov. 1-Dec. 15).

Hunt reservations are sold on a first-come, first-served basis. A $30 fee and $1 tech fee are charged for each reservation. Hunters must possess a valid hunting license and a game bird habitat stamp to hunt pheasants. Hunters should print their reservation confirmation sheet and bring it with them on the day of their hunts.

More information, including property details and purchasing instructions, is available at on.IN.gov/reservedhunt.

Huntingburg Senior Center seeks support for four new benches

By Laurna Pruett
KPI Writer

HUNTINGBURG — The Huntingburg Senior Center is seeking community support to add four benches and several trees along its new walking path.

The planned improvements will provide shade and comfortable places to rest while creating a more welcoming outdoor space for walking, visiting and enjoying time in the community.

Each bench is expected to cost approximately $1,500. Donations of any amount will be accepted and may be made in honor or memory of someone special. A personalized nameplate will be placed on a bench when a donor contributes its full cost.

Checks should be made payable to the City of Huntingburg, with “Park Benches” written in the memo line.

For donation instructions or additional information about the project, contact Allison Bieker at 812-683-2211, ext. 1101.

Dubois County Museum announces extended hours

The Dubois County Museum is launching extended hours on the third Thursday of the month. The times will be from 10:00 a.m. till 6:00 p.m. on these dates for 2026: September 17, October 15, November 15 (coinciding with the Opening of the Festival of Trees Christmas Tree decorating voting contest viewing, and December 17 (coinciding with the Free Evening at the Museum to announce the winners of the Christmas Tree voting contest). The dates for 2027 will follow on the third Thursday of the month.

Admission will be charged. It is $5 per adults, $3 per high school student, $2 per middle school and elementary student and no charge for those children age 4 and under. Museum memberships will be honored.

The museum has had requests to extend our hours and have tried the extended hours during the Strassenfest with some success. Several volunteers have stepped forward to be present in the lobby area during this time. We are hoping to see visitors that stop and will not be disappointed that we are closing at the normal time of 2:00 p.m. We also hope school age children and families take advantage of these hours to visit the museum after school. Homeschool groups can schedule tours and parents with small children can have a place for their youngsters to move around inside the museum.

The museum is now air conditioned in our large farm equipment room (Room Two) and joins the other rooms at the museum already air conditioned. All the rooms are now kept at a comfortable temperature.

Come enjoy the Best Museum in Indiana (as recently voted on by the readers of Indiana Connection Magazine) and the Largest County Museum in Indiana.

If anyone would like to volunteer at the museum during these times, please contact Kathy at 812-630-8696, Museum Volunteer Coordinator.

Bottomland Forest Ecology Hike

Bottomland Forest Ecology Hike presented by The Friends of the Patoka River National Wildlife Refuge will be held on October 3rd.

Join the Friends of Patoka River National Wildlife Refuge as we offer a guided hike to explore the secrets of the bottomland hardwood forest! Topics will include forest succession, types of forests, bottomland forest ecology and a discussion on the bottomland oak species, many of which are only found in Indiana in this corner of the State. The hike will be lead by Doug Brown, an experienced forester and conservationist, on Saturday, October 3, at a recently acquired property east of Winslow in Pike County. The roundtrip hike will be approximately 1.5 miles with an elevation change of about 100' and will last about one hour. Participants should dress for the weather, wear sturdy walking/ hiking shoes, and insect repellent. An optional tour after the hike will be offered that will showcase a bottomland hardwood forest planting near the Survant Station boat ramp.

Directions: From the junction of SR 64 and SR 61, head toward Winslow and go 3.8 miles. Turn right onto E North Street. Go 0.5 mile and then turn left onto N Collins St. In 400 ft, turn right on Jasper Rd. In 0.2 mile stay on Cato Winslow Rd/CR 475 E. Go one mile and turn right onto Bruster Branch Rd/CR 200 S. In 0.8 mile the destination will be on the right. Look for a Refuge event sign. The latitude and longitude are: 38.391798, -87.174402.

Fall is a beautiful time of the year to explore and learn about the forests of Patoka River National Wildlife Refuge. Don't miss this opportunity. It will be "tree"mendous!

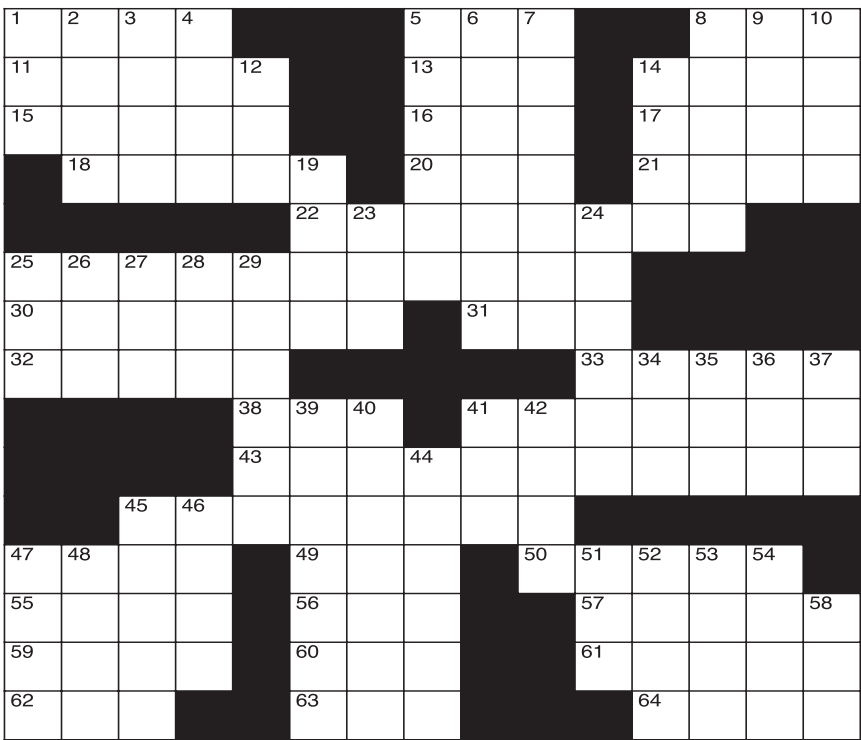

Have a Great Season!

It's Game Time!!

Sudoku Puzzle

How it Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle! Good Luck!

Guess Who?

GUESS WHO?

I am an athlete born in Texas on September 17, 1995. I played football, basketball and baseball while in high school. But football is where I eventually gravitated, despite my father playing professional baseball. I have led the Kansas City Chiefs to several Super Bowl victories.

Training, partnerships keep Dubois County ready for emergencies

By Laurna Pruett
ING Writer

DUBOIS COUNTY — Preparing for disasters requires year-round planning, training and cooperation among agencies throughout Dubois County, according to Tammy Humbert, director of the Dubois County Emergency Management Agency.

During a major emergency, the county can call upon fire departments, law enforcement, emergency medical services and the communications center. Utility providers, municipal departments, the county highway department and health department and solid waste department may also assist.

“We plan, train and exercise these types of scenarios continuously, so when disaster strikes, we know exactly who we should reach out to,” Humbert said.

First responders train together annually, allowing them to establish working relationships before an actual emergency occurs. Agencies also meet quarterly to review recent incidents, evaluate how each response was handled and identify possible improvements.

Dubois County recently implemented IPAWS, a mass notification system that can quickly alert residents and provide instructions about actions they should take.

Humbert said the county must be prepared for a wide range of emergencies. Past incidents have included avian influenza, COVID-19, tornadoes, flooding, fires and explosions.

“We prepare for all disasters, as the response will be similar for all emergencies,” she said.

Residents also play an important role in emergency preparedness. Humbert recommends that every household maintain an emergency kit containing enough supplies for at least 72 hours. Families should also develop a plan that includes where they will go if an evacuation is necessary.

Depending on the size and severity of an emergency, responders may not be able to reach every resident immediately.

“Being prepared in advance is the best way to stay safe,” Humbert said. “You must be prepared and able to take care of your family until help arrives.”
